DANR Reminds Campers Not to Move Firewood – Buy It Where You Burn it!

PIERRE S.D. – With the summer camping season kicking off on Memorial Day weekend, the South Dakota Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources (DANR) reminds campers to buy firewood where they burn it to minimize the movement of emerald ash borer (EAB) and other pests.

Ash is a popular firewood in South Dakota. If an ash tree is infested before it was cut, it may still contain EAB insect larvae that could emerge in the summer and infect new trees.

"We all need to work together to slow the spread of emerald ash borer," said DANR Secretary Hunter Roberts. "Firewood is the most common way emerald ash borer is spread to new locations. Please, don't move firewood, buy it where you burn it!"

EAB has been found in Minnehaha, Lincoln, and Union counties. To help slow the spread, DANR established a year-round quarantine in those counties, and neighboring Turner County. The quarantine prohibits movement of ash products and all hardwood firewood out of the quarantined counties. DANR also established an external embargo on regulated ash products and untreated firewood entering South Dakota from all states east of South Dakota's eastern border and any county where EAB is known to exist in other states.

For more information about EAB in South Dakota or to report a suspected sighting please visit <https://emeraldashborerinsouthdakota.sd.gov>.

SDAHO Shares Concerns with State Lawmakers over CMS Staffing Mandate

South Dakota Association of Healthcare Organizations, COO Tammy Hatting along with the Director of Advocacy and Reimbursement, Jacob Parsons presented to the Joint Appropriations Committee, Tuesday May 21, 2024. The meeting took place at the state Capitol in Pierre, with Hatting and Parsons focusing their presentation on the impact The Center's for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) finalized staffing mandate will have on nursing homes.

Hatting shared with lawmakers, "the new requirements pose a serious threat to nursing homes nationwide."

The new rule requires nursing homes to complete a comprehensive facility assessment by August 8, 2024. Once the final rule is fully implemented, nursing homes are required to provide 3.48 total nurse staff hours per resident day, on site RN coverage 24/7, and possibly higher ratios, depending on resident acuity.

One of many concerns for Hatting includes the CMS decision to follow the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) definition of rural vs. urban, rather than the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) definition. "Many of our smaller communities across the state are considered urban as defined in the new rule. We are seeking clarification on the OMB definition and working to raise the population threshold to redefine what qualifies as an urban area. The way it is defined now would mean a town like Canton or Canistota could be considered urban, so we will continue to work on changing that definition".

Hatting says, "I feel it is very important to get all of our state lawmakers up to speed on this new federal rule because the clock is ticking and if the deadlines are not met, nursing homes could face serious monetary penalties." Deadlines for implementation are set based on whether a facility is considered urban or rural. May 10, 2026, is the deadline for urban facilities and May 10, 2027, for rural facilities to meet the 24/7 RN requirement. In addition to the 24/7 RN requirement, the final rule also requires rural facilities to have at least 0.55 of the 3.48 hours of daily care per resident coming from a registered nurse. 2.45 hours must come from a certified nurse assistant.

Hatting shared with lawmakers, "these requirements create an imminent staffing crisis concern. "South Dakota has over 1,200 nursing jobs that need to be filled today, and estimates show that 15% of nurses will be retiring in the next five years. RN's and CNAs are hard positions to fill, especially after the pandemic."

Congress currently has several bills that have been introduced, that range from stopping the rule to providing grant funding to help states address the workforce crisis. SDAHO along with several stakeholder groups are working with South Dakota's congressional delegation to take action and ask the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) to pull back the new federal rule and come to the table with key stakeholders to develop a comprehensive plan for improving quality of care in our nursing homes.

Hatting shared with lawmakers, "The part where you come in is with the impact of the total cost to South Dakota and our providers, so I think it is important you are aware of the financial pressure to come. Nationally CMS has calculated the total cost of the final rule being $43 billion over 10 years, that is $4.3 billion dollars per year to meet this mandate. In the final rule, CMS stated their expectations for the cost to be shared, 67% by Medicaid, 11% by Medicare and 22% by other. This is an unfunded mandate being placed on the state and nursing homes at no fault of their own".

The estimated additional yearly cost to meet the proposed staffing regulation in South Dakota is $18,677,719.00, which is roughly $190,489 per nursing home.

State lawmakers applauded SDAHO for their presentation, Senator Jim Bolin of Canton commenting, "This is a really big deal, and I don't know if anyone from the press is listening but this is a big story that could have a huge impact on South Dakota and I would urge them to dig into this, as this is a very big thing especially as we are a state with an aging population. This is very important."

Lead Co-Chair, Rep. Micheal Derby also shared the importance of the issue and it being worthy of keeping on the agenda for the next meeting.

The Mission: To help underprivileged children in Honduras, by giving them the power of knowledge. Specifically, they are biking to raise money to build a school on an orphanage in Honduras. And how exactly are these five boys going to raise money for the new school? By biking across 48 states of course! The Plan: Figured that at an average of 60

HISTORY REVISITED

By Gaynor Johnson

There are three local events coming up in June you do not want to miss. You know it's summer when Thursday night means it's time to head to Jack Fox Park for some great food, music and area vendors. The Chamber of Commerce has taken over this event and please note the time change. To hopefully attract more folks that work in Sioux Falls and may not get back to Canton until 5:30 or later, the Open Air Market will now begin at 6 p.m. and run until 8 p.m. The musical act for the first market (June 6) will be Sonny Sundstrom from Aleister who will be performing his original material on keyboards with vocals. CPAC is in charge of the music and they have eight other acts lined up for the summer that they hope you will enjoy.

The following day, June 7, Jack Fox Park will be busy again when the 2nd Annual Chalk It Up Festival will be held from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. This all started last June on the sidewalk of Marsha Stensland's Canton home. Now it is moving to this new location that has way more cement available for chalk artwork. The Magic Art Bus will be there from 1-3 p.m. Musicians and judges have been lined up and prizes will be awarded including a summer pass to the Inwood Swimming pool in the pre-teen/teen (10-19 years old) category. Everyone is welcome to vote for the "Public Fave." Look for more information on this event elsewhere in this issue.

If all this wasn't enough, a week after "Chalk It Up" Hotel California will be bringing their Eagles tribute show to the Canton Performing Arts Center on Friday, June 14. This will be the music event of the summer for Canton and if you still enjoy all those old hit songs from the 1970's and beyond you have to be there and sing along to this very talented California band. They just happen to be the only tribute band that is authorized by the Eagles to perform their songs so you know they have to be good at what they do.

Check out CantonPAC.com for ticket information. If this show does well, I think other tribute acts may be coming to Canton in the near future. So please support CPAC who is losing its leader when Dan and Cathy Heinemann move into their new home in Sioux Falls in early June. I wish them well and thanks for all you've done over the decades to make Canton a better community. Happy reading as we say goodbye to May and say hello to June.

The History of the "Real Eagles" that some have called "American's Greatest Rock Band"

- It was 1971 when the Eagles started out and became the leading purveyors of California's new country-Rock sound. Don Henley, Glenn Frey, Bernie Leadon, Randy Meisner had their first hit with "Take It Easy" Their most well known song, "Hotel California" is considered to be one of the greatest songs of the modern era.
- By 1980 the group was history. Solo careers followed but their fans wanted a reunion. They got that in 1994.
- It was July 12, 1911 at Disneyland that Frey and Henley joined Leadon and Meisner as Linda Ronstadt's backing band.
- The band never wanted to be called "the Eagles" but just "Eagles". The band's album covers, posters, and merchandise have always referred to them as simply "Eagles."
- Kenny Rogers produced a recording for one of Don Henley's earlier bands, Shiloh, but the record went nowhere.
- Minneapolis native Bernie Leadon had a talent for guitar, banjo and mandolin, all of which he was playing at the age of 13. At age 16, living in San Diego he was working professionally in the group Scottsville Squirrel Barkers. With Beatlemania sweeping the country he went electric after his family moved to Florida and began playing with Don Felder who became an Eagle in 1974. But Leadon never lost his love for country, folk and bluegrass, and he never took to Florida, especially with so much going on in California.
- Besides "Take It Easy" their first album contained the hit songs "Witchy Woman" and "Peaceful Easy Feeling."
- "Desperado", their second album, contained the song "Tequila Sunrise."
- "One of These Nights" became the bands first album to hit Number 1 in 1975, the same year Joe Walsh came on board.
- In 1998 the Eagles past and present were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.
- In 2016 Glenn Frey passed away. This was the same year a statue of him was erected in Standin' on a Corner Park in Winslow, Arizona.
- In 2017, Vince Gill and Deacon Frey, Glenn's son, joined the Eagles.
- Nine artists have officially been members of the group.
- The Eagles had 6 chart-topping albums in the US.
- 200 million Eagles records have been sold.
- They had 29 singles released over their 50 year history.
- 6 Grammys were awarded to the Eagles over their career.
- Their Greatest Hits (1971-1975) sold 38 million copies.

Posttraumatic Stress Injury Awareness Month

PIERRE, S.D. – Governor Kristi Noem, in coordination with the South Dakota Department of Veterans Affairs, is proclaiming the month of June as “Posttraumatic Stress Injury Awareness Month,” a time to reflect on the causes, symptoms, and treatment of post-traumatic stress injuries.

“The brave men and women of the United States Armed Forces who proudly serve and risk their lives to protect our freedom deserve the investment of every possible resource to ensure their lasting physical, mental, and emotional well-being,” the Governor’s proclamation states.

PTSI, which is commonly known as Posttraumatic Stress Injury, is a normal reaction to abnormal circumstances and affects millions of Americans each year. It is most commonly associated with veterans – and has been known by many other terms, including shell shock and combat fatigue. PTSI can affect anyone at any age.

“Our veterans face many life-changing and dangerous situations when they put their lives on the line in defense of our nation’s freedoms,” said Greg Whitlock, Secretary of the South Dakota

Department of Veterans Affairs. “Raising awareness of PTSI is an important step in ensuring veterans have the support they need to make a successful transition back to civilian life. This will help with increased understanding of unseen emotional struggles resulting from PTSI and is critical to the health and well-being of our returning heroes.”

It is estimated that between 11 and 20 percent of service members and veterans experience symptoms of PTSI. However, less than half of those struggling with the injury seek treatment.

“Every veteran processes their military experiences differently, but for those that are experiencing nightmares, flashbacks, irritability or other symptoms of PTSI, help is available,” said Whitlock. “As with any other service-connected injury, treatment is key to recovery. The better veterans understand their PTSI and the impact it has on their mental and emotional well-being, the more effectively they can treat it and begin to heal.”

Specialized treatment for PTSI is available through the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs at <https://www.ptsd.va.gov/>.

Letters to the Editor

Abraham Lincoln stated in the Gettysburg Address that a “Government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the Earth”. There is great wisdom in those words, and make note, it doesn’t say a “government of people that can be bought with campaign contributions for the people that donated them”.

Recently there have been many ads airing on radio and TV concerning the carbon pipeline that is being proposed through South Dakota. The ad states that it is a “win-win” solution and will benefit every South Dakotan. It is definitely a win for politicians that are running for re-election this year and support the pipeline agenda in the state legislature. Campaign contributions are public record and can be found at sdos.gov then campaign finance. Many of the PACS, lobbyists, and individuals that have a financial interest in carbon capture and its’ financial incentives, have donated to the legislators that pushed through many of the bills that have taken away property rights for many South Dakota landowners, our townships and counties.

This past session, SB201 was passed, and it is a bill that takes away all regulating control away from counties and townships and gives it to the Public Utilities Commission for new pipeline installation. The legislators that voted for the bill and are up for re-election are being rewarded with financial donations, especially if their opponent is running on the platform of preserving property rights in South Dakota. There is currently a petition drive going on to get signatures to refer this bill to a public vote, I would encourage every registered voter in South Dakota to sign the petition. Let the people decide who is best to make the decisions impacting hazardous pipeline safety and property rights by referring it to a public vote.

I would also encourage you to research the candidates and make sure that our legislators are representing us and not special interest groups. Don’t let paid media ads make your decision for you – political wins should not be based on who has the most money to spend! That is a guaranteed method of handing over our government to the special interest groups. Landowner rights were granted in the constitution. Are we willing to sacrifice those rights for

“The Prince and the Apocalypse”

By: Kara McDowell

18-year-old Wren is on her senior trip to London and so far, everything has gone wrong. She lives by her lists and itineraries, none of which has gone to plan on this trip. She has been sick with stomach flu for the entirety of the trip and galavants off on her last day to hopefully cross at least one item off her to-do-while-in-London list. This task is to eat a full English breakfast at “Worlds End” that her older sister visited while on her London trip. When she gets there, she finds it closed, and instead runs into Theo, the Prince of Wales, who is on the run from the royal family. She helps him escape the paparazzi and then she rushes to the airport to make her flight home. Theo telling her that he “owes her one.” The airport is a total mess with people everywhere trying to get out of the country on a plane. Wren had not even realized what had been going on in the world while she was busy trying to help Theo escape. The news has issued a statement about a comet coming towards Earth in eight days. With nothing to lose, she calls the number Theo gave her, hoping he can meet her request for a way out of England to get home to Chicago. They meet up and he tells her his family has a private jet at their home in Santorini, Greece. With days until the world ends, they cross five countries to get to Santorini, meeting obstacles at every turn.

Even if it was predictable in a couple of sequences, this was such a fun, fast, and light read. It made me laugh aloud multiple times and I will be eagerly awaiting the sequel coming out in July. If you are looking for a young adult read this summer, I would recommend “The Prince and the Apocalypse.”

the promise from an out of state company that “it will benefit every South Dakotan”? It sounds too good to be true....

John Lennon said, “The people have the power, all we have to do is awaken it”. This issue may not directly affect you, but if we allow this constitutional right to be sold to the highest bidder, what right that is important to you, will they be willing to “sell” next? Please research your candidates and let’s return it to a democracy that Abe Lincoln envisioned, one that is “for the people”.

This piece of Ocean heaven is in the Caribbean Ocean in the port of Nassau, the capitol of Bahama, commonly known as the Bahama Islands. This also is in the notorious Bermuda Triangle, many people have disappeared in boats, ships and planes. This water is warm and crystal clear and hundreds of blue and yellow small fish can be seen.

We got here on a cruise ship and by mere chance, it was the old “Love Boat” from former TV shows back many years ago. There was a large buffet open almost 24 hours, with more special foods on it from morning until later evening. The ship was decommissioned several years ago and today’s cruise ships are huge and make this one look small.

This Navy Destroyer docked in at the right side of our ship. Its a safety requirement that a full time Harbor Pilot comes out and directs all ships in, using a tub boat also helps park a ship directly along side a big dock. This may not apply to the Navy with all their expert sea men.

This is a gruesome depiction of the torture chambers used 150 years ago in the slave market auction quarters on the edge of the big tourist town of Hassua, the capital. How is your retirement income taxed?

Once you’re retired, you will likely need to draw on several types of income for your living expenses. You’ll need to know where these funds are coming from and how much you can count on, but you should also be aware of how this money is taxed — because this knowledge can help you plan and budget for your retirement years.

Here’s the basic tax information on some key sources of retirement income:

Social Security – Many people don’t realize they may have to pay taxes on their Social Security benefits. Whether your benefits will be taxed depends on how much other taxable income you receive from various sources, such as self-employment, stock dividends and interest payments. You’ll want to check with your tax advisor to determine whether your income reaches the threshold where your Social Security benefits will be taxed. The lower your total taxable income, the lower the taxes will be on your benefits. The Social Security Administration will not automatically take out taxes from your monthly checks — to have taxes withheld, you will need to fill out Form W-4V (Voluntary Withholding Request). Again, your tax advisor can help you determine the percentage of your benefits you should withhold.

Retirement accounts – During your working years, you may have contributed to two basic retirement accounts: an IRA and a 401(k) or similar plan (such as a 457(b) plan for state and local government employees or a 403(b) plan for educators and employees of some nonprofits). If you invested in a “traditional” IRA or 401(k) or similar plan, your contributions may have been partially or completely deductible and your earnings grew on a tax-deferred basis. But when you start taking withdrawals from your traditional IRA or 401(k), the money is considered taxable at your normal income tax rate. However, if you chose the “Roth” option (when available), your contributions were not deductible, but your earnings and withdrawals are tax-free, provided you meet certain conditions.

Annuities – Many investors use annuities to supplement their retirement income. An annuity is essentially a contract between you and an insurance company in which the insurer pays you an income stream for a given number of years, or for life, in exchange for the premiums you paid. You typically purchase a “qualified” annuity with pre-tax dollars, possibly within a traditional IRA or 401(k), so your premiums may be deductible, and your earnings can grow tax deferred. Once you start taking payouts, the entire amount — your contributions and earnings — are taxable at your individual tax rate. On the other hand, you purchase “non-qualified” annuities with after-tax dollars, so your premiums aren’t deductible, but just like qualified annuities, your earnings grow on a tax-deferred basis. When you take payments, you won’t pay taxes on the principal amounts you invested but the earnings will be taxed as ordinary income.

We’ve looked at some general rules governing different sources of income, but you should consult your tax professional about your specific situation. Ultimately, factors such as your goals, lifestyle and time horizon should drive the decisions you make for your retirement income. Nonetheless, you may want to look for ways to control the taxes that result from your various income pools. And the more you know about how your income is taxed, the fewer unpleasant surprises you may experience.

has had unusually large budget surpluses, largely because of federal Covid funding. Our surplus in 2018 was 16.9 million, in 2019 it was 19.4 million, and 2020 was $19 million. During the Covid funded years things changed; the 2021 surplus was 85.9 million, 2022 was 115 million and 2023 was 96.8 million. These numbers are not sustainable. Last year we reduced the sales tax by 3 tenths of one percent which reduced state revenue by an estimated $100 million. Covid funding is gone so we will likely return to a smaller budget surplus. Additionally, we are facing another 100-million-dollar loss of revenue if the food tax is removed in November. I will not support a tax increase, so we will need to tighten the state budget and reduce expenses.

The immediate issues for District 16 are the prison location and SB201, the so called "landowner bill of rights." The prison location is a fight I will not give up on, it is fiscally irresponsible and there is no doubt it will be a financial drain on Lincoln County, and our taxes are already too high! The prison location and SB201 undermine the voters will, by removing the County Commission's authority to have any local control in these matters. We have a lot of work ahead of us next year to address these issues and fight back against out-of-state corporations, and foreign investors. I will continue to fight for District 16.

Eric Hohman

Raised in southeast South Dakota, Hohman and his family have been active in Lincoln, Union and Turner counties for generations. Hohman is eager to meet area voters and is ready to hit the ground running in Pierre to advocate for the people of District 16.

"District 16 is a microcosm of our South Dakota. With rural and urban needs, industrial and agricultural needs, we need a state senator who reflects our region's values and can listen to the needs of the constituents," said Hohman. "I'm the proven leader most able to advocate for agriculture, schools, small towns, rural values, and fight against special interests that could disrupt our way of life."

The past few years the state

Eric and his wife, Mona, have two adult children—Andy and Rachel—and six grandchildren who all reside in the Canton School District. He graduated from Canton High School and earned a bachelor's degree in Agricultural Business and Commercial Economics from South Dakota State University as well as a master's degree in Business Administration from the University of South Dakota.

"South Dakota has given my family and I so much. We are truly blessed," said Hohman. "I look forward to giving back by representing my neighbors with thoughtful, principled, and conservative leadership. Now is my time to give back, and I humbly ask the voters of District 16 for their support in the 2024 election."

Hohman's parents—Dr. Paul and Roz Hohman—instilled in him a duty of giving back to the community. Eric served on the Canton School Board and was previously active with the Forest Hill Cemetery Board, the Canton Library Board, the Sioux Empire Red Cross Board and treasurer of the Canton Lutheran Church. He currently is active with the Jim and Caroline Deinema Canton Community Foundation, the Lutheran Church Foundation and the Depot.

During his time owning the Sioux Valley newspaper and working in the banking industry, Hohman learned the importance of accessibility, independence, transparency, honesty and keeping true to your word. To Hohman, these are crucial for long-lasting relationships. As a state senator, Eric will be a leader District 16 can be proud of because he is committed to these same principles as an elected public official.

The District 16 Senate seat will be vacated by longtime public servant Jim Bolin, who is term-limited and unable to seek re-election to the State Senate. Hohman is grateful for Senator Bolin's leadership in the Legislature and passion for public service.

District 16 includes the majority of Lincoln, Turner and Union counties. The Republican primary election is Tuesday, June 4, 2024, and the general election is Tuesday, Nov. 5, 2024.

thousands of people concerned about losing local control. The best form of government is that which is closest to the people. We also need property tax reform, election integrity, protection of individual rights, and transparency in government. I serve on the Ag & Natural Resources committee, and made the motion to pass the foreign ownership of ag land bill. The national debt is out of control, and even though we balance the budget in South Dakota, only about 40% of our revenue comes from SD. Our dependence on the feds needs to be less.

South Dakota needs strong leaders to protect our state's rights. A transparent government is what builds trust with the citizens. I am concerned that many times our elected officials seem to forget that they are there to represent the people. However, any one person elected cannot do it all. We need more grassroots support and engagement. The more we all get involved, the better we can build strong families and communities.

Candidates Continued

There are some issues that our State Government needs to address.

How our tax dollars are spent should be important to all of us. Efficient use of our money is critical to maintaining the State's balanced budget. I supported the rural infrastructure bill so our small rural communities could continue to thrive and grow.

I support the sanctity of life and would support legislation to uphold that life.

I strongly support government kept at the local level. Who knows our issues better than our locally elected officials? That is where decisions should be made that affect our individual communities.

The pipeline for CO2 sequestering should not be that complicated. As a farmer, the crops I plant require CO2 to grow strong and healthy. At meetings I have attended, I ask the question what will lower the CO2 levels due to our crop production. No officials seem to have an answer. Other questions get asked and no specific answers are given. We deserve those answers. I believe one big issue is, can this project be financially sustainable with the large amount of tax credits used to fund it. I have not read any economic feasibility study showing the long term return on investments without using taxpayer subsidies. Who is really benefiting the most from this?

We need to support the educators of our children, whether it is public, private or home schooling. These young people are the future leaders.

Those who work in law enforcement or health fields are vital to the very way of life in South Dakota. They deserve our deepest gratitude.

I will strive to preserve our agricultural heritage by protecting personal property rights and making efficient use of your tax dollars. I pledge to make state government more transparent.

I would appreciate your vote on June 4th. Thank you.

Betty Otten

Why are you running for public office?

I am seeking the elected office of Lincoln County District 2 Commissioner. Lincoln County is at a crucial juncture. Despite being the third largest and fastest growing county in the state, Lincoln County has unfortunately earned a statewide reputation as being dysfunctional. Now is the time to turn the tide and usher in a new era of efficiency, transparency, and genuine commitment for the well-being of all our residents. As this is a partisan race, I'm a well-known fiscally conservative, Pro 2nd Amendment & Pro-Life Republican. I also hold the elected office of Chair of the Lincoln County Republicans.

What are your top priorities if elected?

I led the effort resulting in the stunning defeat of two tax increases by our Commissioners via referendum ballots – and will continue to protect residents from the burden of unnecessary taxation.

It is imperative that we conduct a thorough examination of our budgetary priorities. By exploring avenues for cost savings such as combining orders with other departments or municipalities, we could maximize the efficiency of our resources without compromising essential services.

Holding department heads to their approved budgets & implementing regular reporting mechanisms that will bring much-needed transparency to our county government

Supporting Law Enforcement: I support those who serve and protect our community. It is unacceptable to jeopardize the well-being of our law enforcement officers by denying them fair compensation as happened on June 28, 2022

I will continue to champion the idea of scheduling one Lincoln County Commission evening meeting per month. This would give working members of our community the opportunity to voice their concerns and engage directly with their Commissioners. This would also free up critical courtroom space until the Justice Center is open

What do you see as the top issue facing the county moving forward and what is your plan to address it?

Lincoln County is the fastest growing county in SD and 6th in the nation. Lincoln County is currently reworking the county's future Comprehensive Plan for urban & Arural/ag needs & economic development

How has your personal and professional/experiences prepared you to be an elected leader?

I have real world : I was a business owner, community education teacher, worked in both corporate business & a large healthcare organization, was a licensed radiologic technologist certified in special procedures in SD and AR, and have been a trained hospice volunteer.

I understand Lincoln County: I have been married to my soulmate Ernie for almost 43 years living in the same home, raised our two sons here, and we have 6 grands. Since April 2020, I have attended almost every Lincoln County Commission meeting in person, watched most Lincoln County Planning & Zoning meetings and was appointed to the Lincoln County Courthouse Improvement Advisory Committee.

Taxpayer Advocate: I led the effort resulting in the stunning defeat of two different tax increases by our Commissioners via referendum ballots – one in 2020 and again in 2021 from a unanimous vote of the Commission. This highlights my leadership and dedication to protecting residents from the burden of unnecessary taxation.

Duane Carlson

My name is Duane Carlson, and I am running for Lincoln County Commission District 2 because I care about our communities in Lincoln County.

My wife Darla and I own and operate Carlson Consulting, an on-site Mobile Repair Co. We are deacons at the First Baptist Church in Vermillion. We have four children and 13 grandchildren. I am the 5th generation living on homesteaded land in Lincoln County.

I am a former Grand Jury member for Lincoln County. I am Pro-Life, Pro family and Pro 2nd amendment. I have been serving on the Brooklyn Township Board since 2007 and until recently, I was the Superintendent of the township. My wife and I spoke at length about my running for commissioner and the challenges I might face, and we both decided that the time was right for me to run. In Brooklyn Township we have had our challenges balancing the rights of residents with the rights of a major dairy operation. In the same way, there are complex projects and issues facing us in Lincoln County—the proposed prison, CO2 pipeline and the justice center in Canton. These projects have the potential to cost the taxpayers of Lincoln County a tremendous amount of money if they are mismanaged. As a county commissioner, I will proactively work with the Planning and Zoning Commission on managing these projects efficiently.

Regarding our rising property taxes, I will work with other commissioners and the equalization office to ensure that citizens are being taxed responsibly and accurately. Two of the major challenges that lie ahead for Lincoln County are the proposed CO2 pipeline (and the ever-changing route through Lincoln County land) and the prison.

This past November and December, an "Ad Hoc Committee" was formed to make recommendations to the county commission to determine appropriate setbacks for this pipeline. During this time, some townships had drafted their own ordinances regarding setbacks but as of today, this is still up in the air. Meanwhile, landowners are waiting to see how this will affect their family farms and private land. I have sat in on a number of pipeline meetings this past year and the one take away is that local control is essential to our communities in Lincoln County. And this is doubly so for the new prison that our state wants to build in our county. I have not heard a single person say they are in favor of having this prison built in Harrisburg!

A centralized form of government will not work for the residents of Lincoln County. And while I am not opposed to economic development, we must strike a balance between responsible development and maintaining our agricultural heritage. Agriculture is our way of life in Lincoln County and it's worth protecting. If elected as Commissioner, my promise is that I will always carefully consider the impacts of my decisions for all citizens in Lincoln County. I respectfully ask for your vote on June 4. Thank you!

Souvignier To End Term As SDAA President At Upcoming Convention

The 62nd Annual South Dakota Auctioneers Association Convention will be held in Sioux Falls June 6-8 and will mark the completion of Canton auctioneer Ted Souvignier's one-year term as the organization's president.

Souvignier, who is employed with Souvignier Real Estate and Auctions in Canton, Sioux Falls Regional Livestock in Worthing, and Sheldon Livestock in Sheldon, Ia., was sworn in as president at last year's annual convention after serving for the past several years as a member of the SDAA Board of Directors.

Souvignier's duties as president have been to not only line up this year's convention and its continuing education courses and speakers, but to preside over board meetings, auction contests and other SDAA events throughout the year. He and other members of the SDAA were also directly involved in re-instating the South Dakota Restricted Broker's License in the South Dakota State Legislature last year.

In addition to serving as the organization's president, Souvignier was also named the 2019 South Dakota State Bid Calling Champion at the South Dakota State Fair, a title in which he shares with many other renowned auctioneers in the Midwest, including his father and fellow auctioneer and business partner, Tom Souvignier. Tom won the State Bid Calling Contest in 2000, and also served as the SDAA president from 2005-2006.

Going even further back, Souvignier's grandfather, Gaylon Souvignier (Tom's father), served as the SDAA President in 1973, making Ted one of the only people in the history of the South Dakota Auctioneer's Association to be a third-generation president of the organization.

This year's convention will be held at the Hilton Garden Inn South, located at 5300 South Grand Circle on the south side of Sioux Falls near the junction of Louise Avenue and I-229. Featured speakers for the week are to include Ryan McKnight, lecturer of law and real estate at the Ness School of Management and Economics at South Dakota State University; Brittany McKnight, assistant professor of business law at the Ness School of Management and Economics; and Daren Anderson, leader and President of Big D Technology Solutions, Inc. and founder of Big D Auctions, Inc.

While one of the main purposes of the convention is to offer continuing education credits for members of the organization, the classes aren't the only events that are on the agenda for the week. A yearly convention highlight that the public is always invited to attend is the Thursday night "Fun Auction." This year, the event is to be held in the Garden Ballroom of the Hilton at 7pm. Auctioneers attending the convention traditionally bring along three items to sell, which often range from a variety of gift baskets, children's toys, antiques, handmade items, home décor items, seasonal summer packages, and much more.

The "Fun Auction" usually begins with the reigning State Bid Calling Contest Champion starting the night off selling the first few items and continuing as emcee, followed by other attending members, guest auctioneers, SDAA officers, past Presidents, and Hall of Fame members. All proceeds raised from the auction go to the SDAA to help offset convention costs.

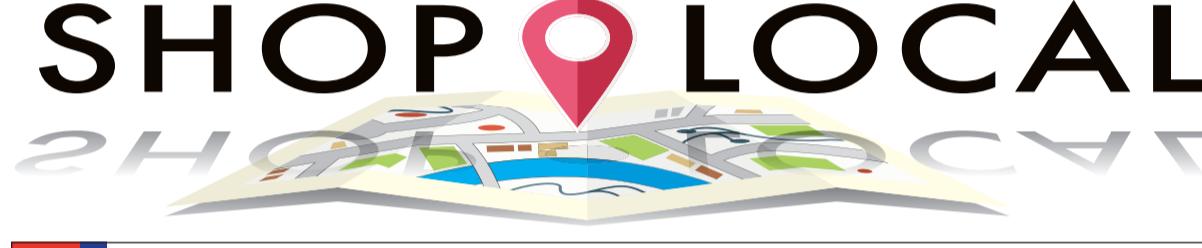

Those in attendance at the "Fun Auction," including members of the public who come just for the fun of it, also have the opportunity to vote for their favorite auctioneer of the night. The auctioneer with the most votes will be awarded the "People's Choice" award at Friday night's annual SDAA Banquet, where new officers will be installed for the 2024-2025 year and new members of the organization are inducted into the SDAA Hall of Fame.

Gaylon Souvignier, who passed away in 2000, was posthumously inducted into the Hall of Fame in 2005. Tom was inducted into the Hall of Fame back in 2017.

This fall will mark Souvignier's 17th year in the auction business. He completed his auctioneer training at the World Wide College of Auctioneering in Mason City, Ia., in November 2007 and holds a Real Estate Auctioneer's License and a Broker Associate Real Estate License in the state of South Dakota.

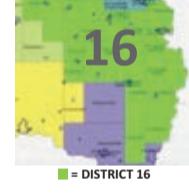

2023-2024 SDAA President Ted Souvignier (above) will complete his one-year term as president at the association's annual convention on June 6-8 in Sioux Falls. He and his wife, Emily, have spent the past two years planning the details of the event. In addition to the classes and workshops for association members, Emily has also lined up daily "Ladies Events" for the spouses and significant others in attendance, including a floral workshop with Kim Sogn from The Garden Shed Floral in Canton. Nearly half of South Dakotans have unfavorable view of Noem, poll shows

BY STU WHITNEY
South Dakota News Watch

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. – Nearly two-thirds of South Dakotans said Gov. Kristi Noem damaged her credibility in her book rollout, and nearly half said they have an unfavorable view of the second-term Republican, according to a scientific poll of 500 registered voters co-sponsored by South Dakota News Watch.

As for Noem's bid to become former President Donald Trump's vice-presidential nominee in 2024, nearly 60% of South Dakotans said she should not be chosen, including 55% of Republicans. The poll was also sponsored by the Chiesman Center for Democracy at the University of South Dakota.

The governor's favorability based on personal popularity was 39%, down 13 points from a similar poll conducted in October 2020. Nearly half of respondents (48%) said they had an unfavorable opinion of Noem, which is double the number from 2020.

Mason-Dixon Polling and Strategy conducted the statewide survey May 10-13, several days after the governor cut short her book publicity tour and returned to South Dakota. "No Going Back," her second book, was published May 7.

Media coverage focused on revelations in the book about Noem killing an unruly family hunting dog and fabricating a meeting with North Korean dictator Kim Jong Un.

The controversy, and Noem's response, has sent her political prospects into a spiral not just nationally but in the Mount Rushmore State, said Jon Schaff, a political science professor at Northern State University in Aberdeen.

"These numbers are worse than I expected, quite frankly," said Schaff. "What it tells you is that some of the issues coming out of the book not only damaged her national ambitions, but they put a serious damper on any statewide ambitions she might have had."

Noem did not respond to News Watch interview requests for this story made through Ian Fury, her chief of communications.

'Disappointment, embarrassment'

Poll respondents were selected randomly from a telephone-matched South Dakota voter registration list that included landline and cellphone numbers. Quotas were assigned to reflect voter registration by county. The margin of error is plus or minus 4.5 percentage points.

The poll showed that 52% approve of Noem's job performance as governor, while 46% disapprove. An April analysis of Morning Consult polling data showed Noem with a job-performance approval rating of 59%, with disapproval at 38%.

Noem's overall favorability, which includes a politician's character traits and personality, took a larger hit, especially within her own party. While 81% of Republican respondents approved of Noem's job performance, that number dipped to 58% when respondents were asked if they had a favorable opinion of her.

By comparison, former president Trump had a favorable rating among Republicans of 70%.

"I think those numbers speak to voters' ability to distinguish between the job she's doing as governor and her likability as a person," said Julia Hellwege, an associate political science professor at USD and incoming director of the Chiesman Center.

Perhaps most notable is the fact that criticism and mockery of Noem's book launch have come from all sides of the political and media spectrum, from traditionally left-leaning "Saturday Night Live" to conservative Fox News.

"Regardless of what party you belong to, it's not a great look for the state," said Hellwege. "When we're getting Saturday Night Live-type attention in a negative way, there's some disappointment and embarrassment wrapped up in that."

Could fallout impact Senate race?

Noem's book, promoted as being "packed with surprising stories and practical lessons," coincided with her rising national profile and status as one of the front-runners to be chosen as Trump's running mate for his rematch against Biden.

"I will do everything I can to help him win and save this country," Noem said as she endorsed Trump at a South Dakota GOP fundraiser in Rapid City in September 2023.

The 52-year-old Castlewood native was the betting favorite to get the VP nod as recently as January by OddsChecker.com.

Following the book controversies, as of May 17, the same betting site lists her as 49th in the VP race behind fringe political figures such as conservative commentator Candace Owens and University of Colorado football coach Deion Sanders.

If the book fallout prevents her from becoming the VP nominee or getting an administration position if Trump wins, it could also impact Noem's next move in South Dakota politics.

There has been speculation that she could make a run for U.S. Sen. Mike Rounds' seat in 2026. Political experts said the recent controversies and negative media attention could change the dynamic of that race.

"You're only talking two years from now, and it's not like Mike Rounds is in a weak political spot," said Schaff. "She would not be the first politician to find herself in a kind of scandal and rehabilitate herself over time. Such things are possible. But these poll numbers show that she's in a little bigger hole than I would have expected."

Voters: Killing of family dog was wrong

One of the book's most revealing passages involved the killing of a 14-month-old female puppy named Cricket after the dog ruined a pheasant hunt with unruly behavior about 20 years ago.

Returning from the hunt, wrote Noem, she stopped to talk to a local family and Cricket jumped out of the truck and attacked the family's chickens one at a time, "crunching it to death with one bite, then dropping it to attack another."

"I hated that dog," she wrote in the book. "At that moment, I realized I had to put her down."

Nearly 6 in 10 of statewide poll respondents (58%) said they felt that the shooting of the dog was not justified, compared to 38% who said it was justified. Among female respondents, 65% said the shooting was not justified, compared to 50% of males.

"It's not surprising, perhaps, that women were more critical of the shooting of the family dog, but half of men thought the same thing," said Michael Card, an emeritus professor of political science at the University of South Dakota. "There's a lot of room for the governor to grow in terms of repairing her image."

"You're about to step in it!"

Another passage from the book that drew criticism was a reference to meeting the notoriously reclusive North Korean dictator when she served on the House Armed Services Committee in Congress.

Trump met with Kim Jong Un several times as president, significant encounters that would have been highly unlikely for someone in Noem's position. Without any congressional records to back it up, the story was widely disputed, and Noem's staff and publisher, Hachette Book Group, said corrections would be made.

But in an interview on CBS' "Face the Nation" on May 5, the governor didn't offer a clear explanation of how the mistake happened or if she even acknowledged the error.

The News Watch poll asked registered voters: "Does Noem's decision not to answer questions and address some of the issues she raised in her book damage her credibility with you?"

Statewide, 62% said yes, while 34% said no and 4% were undecided. Those saying that Noem's credibility was damaged included 86% of Democrats, 48% of Republicans and 68% of Independents.

The book rollout and ensuing public relations crisis challenged an administration marked by cabinet and staff turnover, including five chiefs of staff. Noem has not named a sixth chief of staff after the June 2023 departure of Mark Miller, her former general counsel.

"People in leadership need to have at least one person who can tell them no and not be afraid they're going to lose their job over it," said Schaff, who was appointed by Noem to the state's Social Studies Content Standards Commission in 2022.

"That typically falls to a chief of staff. If the governor is in a situation where there is nobody around to say, 'You're about to step in it,' then I would say that she's been ill-served."

West River support is strongest

Noem's geographic support within the state remains strongest West River, where 59% of respondents said they approve of her job performance, compared to Sioux Falls Metro (54%). East River South and East River North were both at 46%.

The governor's overall favorability was 43% West River, the highest of the four regions.

Regarding shooting the family dog, 43% of West River respondents said the killing was justified, compared to 31% in the Sioux Falls area, which includes Minnehaha and Lincoln counties in the poll groupings.

Noem carried Pennington County (mostly Rapid City) with 61% of the vote in her 2022 re-election over Democratic challenger Jamie Smith, compared to 53% in Minnehaha County (mostly Sioux Falls).

Women, younger voters more critical

As seen in past polls, Noem's support among male voters is stronger than with females. While 61% of male respondents approved of her job performance, that number was 44% for women.

However, both men (30%) and women (29%) surveyed were against the South Dakota governor being named Trump's running mate. Both men (61%) and women (63%) also said that Noem's reluctance to address some of the issues raised in her book damaged her credibility with them.

Male respondents said the shooting of the dog was not justified by a margin of 50% to 46%, compared to a margin of 65% to 38% for women.

THE TRUTH ON WHAT'S WRONG WITH POLITICS AND HOW WE MOVE AMERICA FORWARD

Younger registered voters had the lowest evaluation of the governor in most categories, including job performance (34%) and overall favorability (26%).

Job performance approval of Noem from the youngest group was dramatically lower than respondents ages 35-49 (54%), 50-64 (61%) and 65-plus (51%).

Younger voters were also more critical of Noem's puppy anecdote, with 71% of respondents ages 18-34 saying it was not justified, compared to 51% for ages 50-64 and 52% for ages 65-plus.

Mason-Dixon has a rating of 2.6 (3.0 is maximum) from FiveThirtyEight and ranks 30th out of 277 pollsters analyzed by the statistical site.

'She has a lot of work to do'

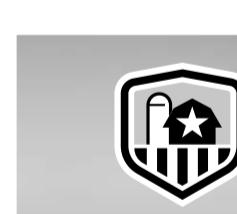

Republicans are still heavily in support of Noem's job performance, with 81.4% saying they approve, compared to 10.9% of Democrats and 32.8% of Independents.

But only 31.2% of GOP respondents said they think Trump should select Noem as VP nominee, which is less than Democrats (33.6%) who think so. Independents were 22.7%.

ABOUT THE POLL

South Dakota News Watch and the Chiesman Center for Democracy at the University of South Dakota teamed up to enlist Mason-Dixon Polling & Strategy to conduct a cell phone and landline poll of 500 random registered South Dakota voters from May 10-13, 2024.

Respondents were representative of all South Dakota counties, ages, gender and political parties, and the margin of error is plus or minus 4.5%.

City of Harrisburg Receives Secretary Award for Drinking Water

City of Harrisburg DRINKING WATER REPORT WATER QUALITY Secretary's Award

The City of Harrisburg has supplied twenty-three consecutive years of safe drinking water to the public it serves and has been awarded the Secretary's Award for Drinking Water Excellence by the South Dakota Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources. This report is a snapshot of the quality of the water that we provided last year. Included are details about where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and state standards. We are committed to providing you with information because informed customers are our best allies.

Water Source

We serve more than 9,700 customers an average of 410,000 gallons of water per day. Our water is groundwater that we purchase from another water system. The state has performed an assessment of our source water and they have determined that the relative susceptibility rating for the Harrisburg public water supply system is medium.

For more information about your water and information on opportunities to participate in public meetings, call (605)743-5872 and ask for Deb Harris.

Additional Information

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses.

- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are byproducts of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally-occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems.

FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk.

More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immunocompromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. The City of Harrisburg public water supply system is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Detected Contaminants

The attached table lists all the drinking water contaminants that we detected during the 2023 calendar year.

The presence of these contaminants in the water does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented in this table is from testing done January 1 – December 31, 2023. The state requires us to monitor for certain contaminants less than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. Some of the data, though representative of the water quality, is more than one year old.

City of Harrisburg participated in EPA's UCMR5 sampling program in 2023 and this report is being used as a public notice. Any detected unregulated contaminants have been included in this report.

The City of Harrisburg public water system purchases 100% of their water from Lewis and Clark Regional Water System (2288).

2023 Table of Detected Regulated Contaminants For Harrisburg (EPA ID 0148)

Terms and abbreviations used in this table:

- * Maximum Contaminant Level Goal(MCLG): the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
- * Maximum Contaminant Level(MCL): the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
- * Action Level(AL): the concentration of a contaminant which, when exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow. For Lead and Copper, 90% of the samples must be below the AL.
- * Treatment Technique(TT): A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water. For turbidity, 95% of samples must be less than 0.3 NTU
- * Running Annual Average(RAA): Compliance is calculated using the running annual average of samples from designated monitoring locations.

South Dakota Trucking Association Awards

Sioux Falls, SD - On Saturday, May 18, 2024, the South Dakota Trucking Association held the 45th Annual South Dakota Truck Driving Championships (TDC's) at Southeast Technical College, 2320 N Career Place, Sioux Falls, SD.

The competition consists of three stages: 1) written exam; 2) skills course; and 3) pre-trip inspection.

7:30 a.m. Saturday morning, all competitors took a 40-question written exam, with questions coming directly from the 2024 "Facts For Drivers" booklet they received for study preparation. These questions range from Industry History; Safety & Security; First Aid, Health, Wellness & Personal Safety; and Fire Safety. Each question is worth two points.

Following the written exam the drivers received instructions for the skills course and were allowed five minutes to walk the course prior to driving it.

The driving course has six problems, each worth up to 50 points, designed to test their driving skills. If a driver is able to get a perfect score of 300 on the skills course, they would have received $1000 cash from the SD Truck Driving Champions Club.

Each driver is required to perform a pre-trip inspection both before and after driving in their daily duties. Competing in the SD TDC's only helps drivers better prepare for their daily duties. This equipment inspected has been staged with 5 major defects and 7 minor defects. The driver is tasked with locating all defects prior to the required time limit.

Logically, the larger trucks get more time for inspection. A perfect inspection would be 100 points. It has happened, but it's quite rare.

At the end of the competition, the driver with the highest accumulated score (written test, skills course & pre-trip inspection) was named the 2024 SDTDC's Grand Champion. This year's Grand Champion Award went to Josh Kelley of FedEx Freight, Inc., Sioux Falls.

There were 9 classes of competition: step van, straight truck, 3-axle, 4-axle, 5-axle van, 5- axle sleeper berth, tank, flatbed and twin trailers. The top finisher of all nine classes will be competing at the 2024 National Truck Driving Championships in Indianapolis, IN, from August 21-24, 2024.
