Resident of Canton for: 14 years Maiden Name - Jacobs

Family (if applicable): Husband - Gerrett, Daughter - Lily

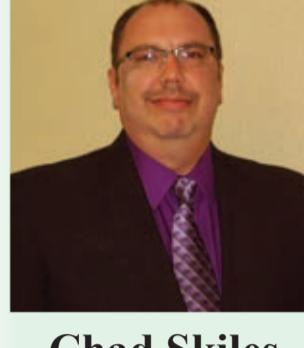

1. Name any civic, professional or religious organizations of which you are a member; positions you have held; and education or other credentials you would like to mention. I'm a Canton High School graduate and my maiden name was Jacobs, Wendy Jacobs is my mother for those trying to connect the dots. I have a Criminal Justice degree and have worked in various areas of the criminal justice field to include Metro Communications (911), the South Dakota State Penitentiary, and the Clerk of Courts. I've also volunteered at the Compass Center with rape and domestic abuse victims and held an internship while in college at the Minneapolis City Attorney's office. I have worked in the medical field as an administrative assistance, as well. I believe these experiences give me a great background for working with the public and thinking on my toes in all kinds of situations.

2. Why are you running for City Commission?

In the summer of 2023, I was involved with collecting signatures to get the recently passed garbage ordinance, to help fund the pool, go to a city wide vote. Having spoken with members of the community, other towns to find out how they were able to build their pool so quickly and if they added surcharges to help fund things in the community, as well as, talking to individual garbage haulers. It was clear that the majority was not in favor of this ordinance. This process really peaked my interest about what was happening in the community that I lived. It also showed me that people can make a difference if they are willing to speak up and take action for what they believe in.

and my family. I appreciate the fact that I know the people I see at the grocery store and the local debate at morning coffee. The small town feel of this place is not lost on me. It is not just the place I live it truly my home. I hope to work hard to make it better for my children and future generations.

3. What issues are most important to you to address upon election?

Important issues: I aim to address vital issues such as a lack of housing, high water and sewer fees, the impact the state prison will have and supporting small businesses with a Canton first attitude. We must embrace success as a community and work together to achieve positive outcomes. Open transparent actions are vital to this goal. We will need to take a deep dive into our aging infrastructure. We have to exam repairable versus replaceable. This is an area that my past work experience and knowledge could be valuable. The city has gone forward with a Capital Improvement Plan. This provides us with a road map for our community's growth and helps outline the goals for the future. This plan should be understood and explained to the public so we can all understand the funding and structure of these investments.

Cody Joseph Vostad

September 25, 1989 -

February 23, 2024

Obituary for Cody Joseph Vostad, much loved brother and friend.

Cody Joseph Vostad was born 9/25/1989 to Mike and Rhonda Vostad in Canton, SD. He graduated from Canton High School and went on to attend the School of Mines where he graduated with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. Cody moved to Kentucky for work and met his wife Tara, they welcomed their beautiful boy Jackson Clay in 2019. They divorced in 2023.

For those who knew Cody well, you were truly blessed. Cody was quiet, generous, kind and always there to help anyone in need. His wide smile could light up a room. He was special. He loved to play golf with his dad Mike, loved to fish and hunt and loved to spend time with his beloved son Jackson. Cody was determined - at just 18 years old, he traveled to Scotland and Ireland to visit his sister Maeghan. While there, he decided that it was his day to play on the world-renowned St. Andrews golf course. Without a word, Cody took a train from Edinburgh to St. Andrews on his own, made friends with a club member at the private club house and played the whole course. He proudly brought back his scorecard to show his dad, Mike.

Cody was an accomplished engineer, both at work and at home. Whenever he came home to visit his mom, we would joke we needed to hide the chainsaw so he didn't just tear the place down and build everything new. He deeply loved the outdoors. Hunting and fishing with his dad, family and friends were his favorite pastimes. Oh the stories they could tell. Cody loved trucks and cars as well, he always seemed to have a car project in the shed waiting to see the road again. Although South Dakota is not known for its lakes, he loved being on the water and enjoyed taking his boat out to enjoy the sun and hang out with friends and family (most likely without any sunscreen). He was a dedicated Packers fan, and was able to attend a few games. Sunday football games were the most heated when the Bears and Packers played, as his brother-in-law Kevin is a Bears fan & the game chatter was endlessly entertaining. He taught all of his nephews and nieces to fish, and did it with a gentle hand and kind touch. His son Jackson Clay was his world, and he was a great dad.

Last year, in March, Cody narrowly survived a horrific head on car crash and never fully recovered financially or physically. The burden of the physical pain and stress of medical debt wore him down in secret, and he lost his battle to bi-polar disease with complications due to Addison's on February 23, 2024. Those who knew him and loved him miss him every day, every minute. His laughter and his generous spirit will live on in each of us who were blessed to call him friend.

Cody is preceded in death by his dad Mike Vostad. He is survived by his mom Rhonda Vostad, brother Matt Vostad, sisters Andrea (Ray) Gleason (Kevin Gleason), Maeghan (Ray) Orton (Reg Orton), and son Jackson Clay Vostad; as well as his nieces Marlow Gleason & Vivian Gleason and nephews Findlay Orton and Tobias Orton.

To those who want to join Cody's celebration of life, we will meet to grieve and share stories of Cody's life together at Grand Valley Church in Canton on April 6th at 2 pm. In lieu of flowers, please consider contributing to a college fund for his son Jackson Clay. Cody was not a flower guy, but he did love his little boy. It's our deepest wish now is to help Jackson remember Cody. Please send gifts and share memories and photos of Cody here (<https://everloved.com/life-of/cody-vostad/>). Alternately, contact the Farmers State Bank in Canton and request Cody Vostad (Rhonda Vostad) memorial for Jackson Vostad. We will create a trust fund with whatever gifts are given for Jackson for his future education, and bind a book with stories of memories with Cody that we will continuously share with Jackson so he can know what an amazing man his daddy was. Thank you to all who loved Cody during his 34 years with us.

Ellen Jane March

June 12, 1936 -

January 17, 2024

Ellen Jane March of Canton passed on Wednesday, January 17, 2024, at Sioux Center Health. Following a rapid decline in health due to Alzheimer's/Dementia, Ellen spent the last three months of her life in the memory care unit at Friendly Horizons in Sioux Center. Ellen and Arnold were known to their neighbors for coffee and cards. The couple played lots of games with their family including Solitaire, King's Corner, Crazy 8's, Dominoes, Rummikub, Croquet, and a homemade version of Jenga. The couple's home was also known for music. With portraits and statues decorating the house, Ellen was not shy about her love of the late singer, Elvis.

In Ellen's own words, she felt like she was "quite serious", but felt others would describe her as "easy-going, family-oriented, and always doing things for others". And that's exactly who she was. A very humble and introverted woman who was rich in kindness and had a deep love for her family.

Her hobbies included quiet work like quilting, crocheting, and working in her vegetable garden. She was known to crochet baby blankets and sew bedspreads for every new grandchild.

And though she was introverted, you could always find Ellen with her family. She was known for hosting the annual family reunion at Oak Grove during Christmas time and planning very elaborate and creative Easter egg hunts in her home. For many years, she found joy in taking the grandchildren camping in the summer and roller skating every other weekend.

Ellen had a quiet strength and a very determined perseverance in the things that meant the most to her. She wasn't afraid to speak her mind and didn't let much stop her, including cancer. She was a two-time breast cancer survivor.

In retirement, Ellen and Arnold enjoyed many winters under the sunshine in Mission, Texas. There they held a second home away from home where Ellen enjoyed swimming and sunning.

In her later years, Ellen developed a fondness for cats. Her favorite was a big black cat named Elvis, who would lounge on Ellen's lap as she crocheted during her TV programs. In December 2023, Ellen and Arnold celebrated 70 years of marriage.

She is preceded in death by her parents, Delphis and Violet Brouillette; her in-laws, Vernon and Jeanie March; her brothers, David and Peter; her six brothers-in-law, Carl Husk, Vernon Voss, Ron Peters, Don Gagnon, Vyrlyn March, and Wilber March; her nephew, Michael Voss, and her grandson, Michael Keehn.

HISTORY REVISITED

By Gaynor Johnson

Well, here we are in April. Spring has arrived, Easter has passed and All Fools Day has come and gone. After a little detour last week into "made-up history" we're back to the real thing this week. With the warmer weather April brings and summer approaching, I thought it would be a good time to take a look back at a drive-in that was a major gathering place for young whippersnappers (I've always wanted to use that word in this column) in the Sioux Falls area—The Barrell.

Back in the 1960's when I was a teenager, once you had learned how to drive and had your license, The Barrell was the spot you most likely headed to with your friends in tow. I know I did back in the day once I was brave enough to navigate the busy streets of the BIG CITY.

As I recall, this drive-in, located at 31st and Minnesota Ave., was where cruising teens pulled in and after slowly driving through their lot you headed back north on Minnesota. At the time this area was considered almost the southern edge of Sioux Falls. That quickly changed in the 1970's as the city began to grow in every direction and that trend continues to this day.

What you are about to read comes from a nifty little booklet entitled Cruisin' Cuisine-Drive-Ins of Sioux Falls. It was published by Siouxland Heritage Museums and came out back in 2009. It can be purchased at the Old Courthouse museum in downtown Sioux Falls.

The list of people who contributed to this booklet is quite long. Other drive-ins mentioned include Bob's, The Cottage, Ray's, Herberts, Cutler's and Kirk's. There also a lot of great photos that will bring back fond memories for those of a certain age. Two pages are devoted to a map that shows the location of all these drive-ins that once dotted the landscape of our neighbor to the north. During their heyday they numbered over fifteen.

Raise your hand if you remember one of our local Canton drive-ins that was once located where Subway and Laura's Lattes are now. It was built in 1953 by the Hines family and was originally called the Westside Drive Inn. According to the History of Lincoln County South Dakota they ran it through the mid 1960's when Richard Fait became the new owner. In 1972 he sold it to Richard and Joyce Scholle who renamed it the Bridgette Drive Inn. The building doubled in size in 1975 when a dining room was added.

Happy reading and don't forget to vote next Tuesday, April 9 because every vote counts. And congrats to Sterling Heath who was recently recognized for serving six years on the board of directors for the Canton-Inwood Area Health Foundation. Keep up the good work.

Drive in restaurants had their beginning in 1921 in Dallas, TX at a little cafe called The Pig Stand. Male servers were paid only in tips. The fierce competition for tips drew the servers to meet their customers cars, earning them the name of "carhops". Eventually female servers replaced the men and the era of the drive-in restaurant with curb-side service was born.

From those southern beginnings, the idea of the drive-in spread, but it would be several years before the first drive-in opened in Sioux Falls. In 1939 Lloyd and Lillian Eagan opened The Barrell, a drive-in which, in some variation, would be open until 1970s. At the height of the drive-in era, over 15 drive-ins could be found in Sioux Falls.

While many communities across the nation saw a decline of drive-ins during World War II, Sioux Falls' drive-ins prospered. Propelled by the influx of tens of thousands of servicemen stationed at the Sioux Falls Army Air Force Technical Training Command, drive-ins such as the Barrell and The Cottage flourished during the early 1940s.

The Barrell

In 1936 Lloyd and Lillian Eagan built a barrel-shaped building at the corner of 31st Street and Minnesota Avenue. The shape of the building was intended to promote the restaurant's main product, root beer. Since 1929, Lloyd's uncle, Harry Muzzy, had operated a successful chain of restaurant in barrel-shaped buildings across the Midwest. He had seen the success of the A & W drive-in chain in California, and wanted to tap into some of that success.

The Eagans remember selling enough soft drinks and hamburgers to clear $11.00 the first day. They knew immediately that they would make it, and they continued to run a successful business for over three decades.

The Barrell's business boomed after soldiers began rolling into town during the summer of 1942. The Sioux Falls Army Air Force Technical Training Command would eventually house tens of thousands of soldiers throughout the course of World War II. During this same time, Lillian was running The Barrell by herself while Lloyd was serving in the Military.

By 1946, the original building was replaced by a new building with a barrel on top. During its prime, The Barrell was a very popular hang-out among high school students. It was so popular that a police officer was often stationed in the parking lot. He would keep track of how many times a car would enter and leave the parking lot. Once a car had come and gone three times he would tell them that they had to stop cruising. Most of the kids would just switch cars and cruise three more times.

In 1954, a third building was constructed. This building would eventually feature a telephone and speaker ordering, both inside and out. In 1967, the Eagans sold the business to Dick Beck and Gene Garry. It was home to several subsequent food businesses until eventually becoming Burger King in 1983. A new Burger King was built in 1995 replacing the last Barrell building. Burger King continued the Barrell's tradition of being a popular hang-out spot for area high school students.

The list of people who contributed to this booklet is quite long. Other drive-ins mentioned include Bob's, The Cottage, Ray's, Herberts, Cutler's and Kirk's. There also a lot of great photos that will bring back fond memories for those of a certain age. It was built in 1953 by the Hines family and was originally called the Westside Drive Inn. According to the History of Lincoln County South Dakota they ran it through the mid 1960's when Richard Fait became the new owner. In 1972 he sold it to Richard and Joyce Scholle who renamed it the Bridgette Drive Inn. The building doubled in size in 1975 when a dining room was added.

Happy reading and don't forget to vote next Tuesday, April 9 because every vote counts. And congrats to Sterling Heath who was recently recognized for serving six years on the board of directors for the Canton-Inwood Area Health Foundation. Keep up the good work.

Iowa's Changing Wildlife Chronicles Evolving Diversity

Iowa's Changing Wildlife

James J. Dinsmore and Stephen J. Dinsmore

If you think you've seen changes in the wildlife in Iowa and the Upper Midwest over the past several decades, you have some pretty good company.

Iowa's Changing Wildlife: Three Decades of Change and Loss by James J. Dinsmore and Stephen J. Dinsmore tells the story of how various species have come and gone from Iowa's landscape, with a special focus on the past 30 years.

James Dinsmore is professor emeritus of animal ecology and management at Iowa State University and previously authored A Country so Full of Game: The Story of Wildlife in Iowa. His son Stephen, professor of wildlife ecology and chair of the Department of Natural Resource Ecology and Management at Iowa State University, has also published on the subject, with the book Iowa Wildlife Viewing Guide.

The Dinsmores draw upon a vast continuity of personal observations and experiences to illustrate the challenges and successes of Iowa's wildlife diversity. They aptly note habitat loss, invasive species, climate change, wildlife disease and pesticides as continuing challenges to Iowa's biodiversity.

However, that diversity is not limited to Iowa. The impact of species such as mountain lions and black bear entering Iowa from adjoining states highlights the fact that state boundaries are no limitation for wildlife migration.

In their preface, the Dinsmores present an overview of the history of the impact of Iowa's settlement on wildlife diversity.

"By the late 1800s some species, including passenger pigeons, elk, bison, gray wolves, mountain lions, and black bear, were gone from Iowa, and by the early 1900s others, including white-tailed deer, beavers, wild turkeys, and sandhill cranes, had also disappeared."

Hunting and habitat loss led to these changes. However, that loss seems to have found a balance. While more Iowa land goes toward crop production, leaving just 2.2 percent of state acres for public conservation land, the Conservation Reserve Program and similar incentives to set aside marginal farmland have improved the outlook for Iowa's wildlife.

Modern genetics is stepping forward too, with DNA research. The authors tell us, "The plan is to use this material to alter the genome of the closely related band-tailed pigeon and re-create the passenger pigeon genome."

What seemed fantasy a few short decades ago could now become reality.

This is a great book for sportsmen and wildlife ecologists as well as anyone interested in viewing wildlife and all its wonders.

The basics of a solar eclipse

The natural world is wondrous to behold. In a given day, there is no shortage of events to capture human attention and imagination, and such occurrences are free of charge.

A solar eclipse is one phenomenon that never ceases to amaze. Millions of people will get a chance to experience this stunning phenomenon on April 8, 2024, when a total solar eclipse will be visible from Texas to Maine, according to the National Park Service. In anticipation of the eclipse, readers can learn about these unique events.

What is a solar eclipse?

According to NASA, a solar eclipse occurs when the sun, the moon and Earth line up, either fully or partially. During a solar eclipse, the moon passes between the sun and Earth, casting a shadow on the planet. That shadow either fully or partially blocks the sun's light in certain areas.

How frequently do solar eclipses occur?

NASA reports that solar eclipses happen only occasionally. That's because the moon does not orbit in the exact same path as the sun and Earth.

Are all solar eclipses the same?

All solar eclipses are not the same. When a solar eclipse occurs, it may be categorized as a total solar eclipse, an annular solar eclipse, a partial solar eclipse, or a hybrid solar eclipse.

- Total solar eclipse: A total solar eclipse occurs when the moon passes between the sun and Earth and the face of the sun is completely blocked. According to NASA, the sky darkens during a total solar eclipse, just as if it is dawn or dusk. The outer atmosphere of the sun, also known as its corona, is typically invisible because the sun is so bright. However, the corona is visible during an eclipse.

- Annular solar eclipse: An annular solar eclipse happens when the moon passes between the sun and Earth when the moon is at or near its farthest point from the planet. That distance is why the moon does not completely cover the sun. NASA notes an annular solar eclipse makes the moon appear as a dark disk on top of larger, bright disk. This creates the awe-inspiring impression that there is a ring around the moon.

- Partial solar eclipse: During a partial solar eclipse, the moon passes between the sun and Earth at a time when all three are not perfectly lined up. NASA notes that the visual effect of this is that only part of the sun appears to be covered, giving it a crescent shape.

- Hybrid solar eclipse: As its name suggests, a hybrid solar eclipse features characteristics of two different types of eclipses. NASA notes that the curved surface of Earth helps to create a hybrid solar eclipse, during which a shift between annular and total eclipse occurs.

A total solar eclipse will occur on April 8, 2024. NASA urges all individuals who intend to witness this awe-inspiring phenomenon for themselves to wear eclipse glasses or to utilize an alternative safe solar viewing method, such as a pinhole projector. More information about solar eclipses and how to view them safely can be found at science.nasa.gov.

When should you take Social Security?

One of your important sources of retirement income will likely be Social Security — but when should you start taking it?

You can start collecting Social Security benefits at 62, but your checks will be considerably bigger if you wait until your full retirement age, which is likely between 66 and 67. You could even wait until you're 70, at which point the payments will max out, except for yearly cost-of-living adjustments. But if you need the money, you need the money, even if you're just 62 or any age before full retirement age.

However, if you have adequate financial resources to meet your monthly needs, whether through earned income, your investment portfolio or a combination of the two, you could have some flexibility in choosing when to take Social Security. In this case, you may want to weigh these considerations:

Life expectancy — For all of us, it's one of life's great mysteries: How long will we live? Of course, we can't see into the future, so the question can't be answered with total confidence. But to make an informed decision on when to take Social Security, you don't need to know your exact lifespan — you just need to make a reasonably good estimate. So, for example, if you're approaching 62, you're enjoying excellent health and you have a family history of longevity, you might conclude it's worth waiting a few years to collect Social Security, so you can receive the bigger payments. Conversely, if your health is questionable and your family has not been fortunate in terms of longevity, you might want to start taking your benefits earlier.

Employment — You can certainly continue working and still receive Social Security benefits. However, if you're under your full retirement age for the entire year, Social Security will deduct $1 from your benefits for every $2 you earn above the annual limit of $22,320. In the year you reach your full retirement age, Social Security will deduct $1 in benefits for every $3 you earn above $59,520. So, you may want to keep these reductions in mind when deciding when to begin accepting benefits.

Once you reach your full retirement age, you can earn any amount without losing benefits. (Also, at your full retirement age, Social Security will recalculate your benefit amount to credit you for the months you received reduced benefits because of your excess earnings.)

Spouse — Spouses can receive two types of Social Security benefits: spousal and survivor. With a spousal benefit, your spouse can receive up to 50% of your full retirement benefits, regardless of when you start taking them. (Your spouse's benefit can be reduced by the amount of their own retirement benefit and whether they took Social Security before their full retirement age.) But with a survivor benefit, your decision about when to take Social Security can make a big difference. A surviving spouse can receive the larger of their own benefit or 100% of a deceased spouse's benefit, so if you take benefits early and receive a permanent reduction, your spouse's survivor benefit may also be reduced for their lifetime.

When to take Social Security is an important — and irrevocable — decision. So, consider all the factors before making your choice.

DANR Announces More Than $172 Million for Statewide Environmental Projects

PIERRE, S.D. – Today, the South Dakota Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources (DANR) announced the Board of Water and Natural Resources has approved $172,554,815 in grants and loans for drinking water, wastewater, storm water and solid waste projects in South Dakota.

The $172,554,815 total consists of $20,007,550 in grants and $152,547,265 in low-interest loans, including $10,986,600 in principal forgiveness to be administered by the Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

"I am pleased to announce this financial assistance is available," said DANR Secretary Hunter Roberts. "Safe and reliable water, wastewater, and solid waste infrastructure help protect our environment and strengthen communities for our kids and grandkids."

Funds were awarded from DANR's Drinking Water State Revolving Fund Program, Clean Water State Revolving Fund Program, Solid Waste Management Program, Consolidated Water Facilities Construction Program, and the Water Environment Fund to the following:

Hudson received a $648,000 Clean Water State Revolving Fund loan and a $647,000 Consolidated Water Facilities Construction Program grant to replace wastewater collection line and sewer services as well as stormwater collection lines impacted by the wastewater line replacement. The city previously received funding in May 2022 for this project. The loan terms are 3.75 percent for 30 years.

Appropriations from the Water Environment Fund and Consolidated Water Facilities Construction Program are funded in part by revenues from the Petroleum Release Compensation Tank Inspection fee and the sale of lotto tickets. These appropriations provide funding for water, wastewater, and watershed projects. The Legislature annually appropriates dedicated water and waste funding for State Water Resources Management System projects in the form of Water Environment Fund Appropriations and the Consolidated Water Facilities Construction Program through the Governor's Omnibus Water Funding Bill.

The Solid Waste Management Program provides grants and loans for solid waste disposal, recycling, and waste tire projects. The Legislature annually appropriates dedicated funding for the Solid Waste Management Program through the Governor's Omnibus Water Funding Bill.

The State of South Dakota and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency fund the Clean Water and Drinking Water State Revolving Fund Programs, which provide low-interest loans for wastewater, storm water, water conservation, nonpoint source projects, and public drinking water system projects. The programs are funded through a combination of federal appropriations, loan repayments, and bonds.

Lincoln County Rural Water System received a $3,078,000 Drinking Water State Revolving Fund loan to construct a second connection to Lewis & Clark

Letters to the Editor

I am writing to express my support for Chad Skiles as a candidate devoted to the well-being and rights of senior citizens. As a concerned member of our community, I believe it is crucial to elect leaders who prioritize the needs of our aging population. I have worked with Chad for many years and have seen first-hand his devotion to our seniors.

Seniors are a valuable and integral part of our society, and they deserve to have a voice in government decisions that directly impact their lives. Chad has consistently demonstrated a deep understanding of the challenges faced by seniors and has presented comprehensive plans to address their concerns. Chad is also a very big supporter of the senior/community center as he can see what a great asset this would be to our community.

In conclusion, Chad has proven himself to be a dedicated advocate for the rights and well-being of senior citizens. His genuine commitment to improving the lives of seniors makes him an ideal candidate for city commission. I strongly encourage fellow community members to consider the needs of our aging population when casting their vote in the upcoming election. Please join me in voting for Chad Skiles on April 9.

Sincerely,

what is right to find a solution to benefit everyone in the most fair and reasonable way.

Chad supports moving this town forward to attract new residents and businesses. He shops locally and supports small business owners. He is dedicated to the youth, including his nieces and nephews. He knows the kids are the future of this town. He wants them to appreciate their upbringing in Canton the way he fondly remembers his own.

Chad lives, loves, and breathes local government. He supports the ideals that our government is in place for us, the citizens, not the interests of those officials elected by the people. He is fair and passionate about ensuring everyone is treated equally. He does not favor any side or agenda, only what is truly best for all.

No one else is as extremely knowledgeable about political processes and government function as Chad is. He has served previously, and continues to serve, in many different capacities of our local government. You can count on Chad to be at every single Canton City Commission meeting and Lincoln County Commission meeting. He stays abreast of the policies that affect us all.

Chad is open and honest, approachable, and not interested in one-sided party politicking. He is, in my opinion, the best example of doing what is right, fair and just at all times for the greater good of all. You will find him seated with a member of an opposing political party at every county commission meeting. They call themselves "the odd couple" and their friendly relationship is a wonderful example of "crossing the aisle." Chad believes government officials need to work together to accomplish their goals and this shows that he is willing to do just that to get the job done.

I hope you had the opportunity to attend or watch the commissioner forum hosted by the Canton Chamber of Commerce on March 26. If you have not seen it yet, please find a way to watch it before the election. It is a very informative session and makes it clear that Chad is simply the best choice for the future of Canton.

Please get out and vote on April 9th. Do not resort to thinking that your one vote cannot change or affect the future. Make your voice heard. All votes are important.

If you want change, as I feel we all do, you must cast your vote for Chad Skiles. This city has so much potential for growth and greatness, and a vote for Chad on April 9th is a vote to push Canton towards a bright future for all of us.

Thank you,

residents and taxpayers have no right to question it. On the other hand if you or I own our land, the state says a privately owned out-of-state entity can use our land for its own personal gain, and again, we have nothing to say about it.

I suppose I'm just an old curmudgeon yearning for the good old days, but I have good reasons. I love South Dakota and have had an idyllic life here up until recently; and hope for the same for my grandchildren. And I've learned a few things over the years, not all development is progress, not all growth is good, and not everyone that you invite here will be the type of person or business you will want for a neighbor.

Sportstalk

I am writing this on one of my favorite days of the year and you know I am talking about opening day of the MLB season. It is the day when half the teams can't play because they start in the north part of the states and the upper part is usually cold and rainy or snowy so I know the Braves first game was postponed but with 162 games ahead there is plenty of time to get all the games in. I am planning to get to a few games this year as they come to play the twins in August and it turns out it is on my birthday so hoping that the entire family will be there but I am already excited about it cause it's a nice place to get to the game and watch the Braves win and with a couple new jerseys I got at Christmas I am ready. Might have to get a new hat or two but don't tell Teresa because I already have a few others but never to many.

Many of you know that I am a 49ers fan and have been since 1969 so that classifies me as a long fan and I have too many shirts and hats to change now but I am getting a little bit tired of all the trade and signing talk on my phone all day long. I am sure a lot of you who follow teams around here like Vikings and Chiefs get them too. Sometimes I can't believe they have to put out information every day when all said and done there is no information to put out but like a football fan I will eat all this info up and read it or listen to it just in case it's something I don't think I can't live without. Don't forget the NFL Draft is coming up in about a month so we can start hearing a lot of names that our favorite team is going to draft on our team that I have never heard of before but still excited to see him on the team. Now we all know that being a NFL fan is a year round job and that is without a huge signing bonus.

Lots of things going on around CHS next week with the Canton band is heading out to go to Disney World in Orlando for 5 days and while they are down in the sunny skies of Florida the rest of us will be moving on from the last snow fall to start our girls golf and outdoor track meets. We head to Elk Point on the 2nd then to Tea so looks like our spring sports are going to get going. New Documentary to Highlight the Return to Vietnam 50 Years Later

"Mission Veteran Expedition: Honoring Vietnam Veterans in the Transportation Industry" returns to Vietnam with ten veterans, documenting their personal experiences of historic events and healing.

March 29, 2024 – In November 2023, ten Vietnam veterans embarked on a journey they never thought possible, returning to Vietnam, and exploring the locations and memories that for 50 years have held deep significance for each of them. Mission Veteran Expedition, a collaborative venture between CDLLife, FASTPORT, and nonprofits Waypoint Vets and Wreaths Across America, made this journey possible and, together, proudly announce the upcoming release of a new documentary of the trip, "Mission Veteran Expedition: Honoring Vietnam Veterans in the Transportation Industry."

The documentary, captured and produced by U.S. Army veteran Nicholas Mott, owner of Seven Five Media, was released this morning and is available for anyone to view at no cost on Wreaths Across America's YouTube channel Today – National Vietnam War Veterans Day.

"The documentary offers an intimate and compelling look at the journey of these veterans," said videographer Nicholas Mott. "Capturing the essence of their experiences and the profound impact of the Mission Veteran Expedition was truly an honor. I hope other Vietnam veterans will watch it and find it healing."

The trip offered ten veterans, each of whom has made a living in the transportation industry, an extraordinary opportunity to revisit Vietnam and reflect on their service there. The documentary explores this impactful journey, which combines travel, camaraderie, and history. Waypoint Vets, a non-profit organization dedicated to uniting and empowering veterans through camaraderie and adventure, led the expedition, ensuring each participant experienced a meaningful and lasting journey. The itinerary included a variety of experiences, including:

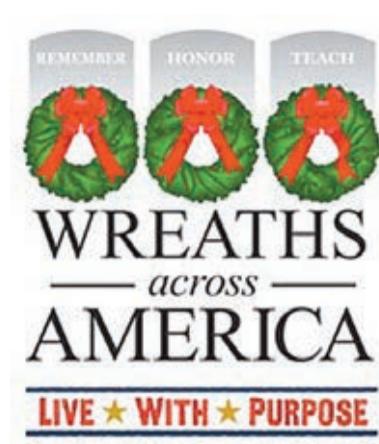

Grounds Tour of the Former Saigon Embassy
Walking Street Food Tour through Ho Chi Minh City
Cu Chi Tunnels & Mekong Delta Luxury Tour
War Remnants Museum
Halong Bay Cruise
Defense POW / MIA Accounting Agency Tour

A 'Welcome Home' ceremony hosted at Sirius XM studios in Hollywood, with interviews on Radio Nemo

"The Mission Veteran Expedition successfully commemorated these veterans' valiant contributions while allowing them to experience the beauty of Vietnam's landscapes and the richness of its culture," said Sarah Lee, Army combat veteran and founder of Waypoint Vets. "For many veterans, the memories associated with Vietnam are often intertwined with the challenges of war. This expedition redefined these associations and replaced them with new, healing memories. By engaging with Vietnam on a deep, personal level, the trip forged lasting connections and helped veterans find solace in the beauty of a nation at peace."

As commemorative partners of the United States of America Vietnam War Commemoration, FASTPORT and Wreaths Across America have had the honor of "Welcoming Home" more than 7,500 Vietnam veterans. "I feel the trip's culmination was an important piece of closure for the participant's journey," said Brad Bentley, President of FASTPORT, who traveled to Vietnam with the group. "These men returned to the United States to a hero's welcome, and for millions who never received this show of gratitude for answering the call of duty, it was truly an honor to say, 'Welcome Home.'"

Share your strength: Give blood with the Red Cross

Exclusive Godzilla x Kong: The New Empire + Red Cross T-shirt for coming to give through April 7

This spring, the American Red Cross asks donors to help defend the blood supply by giving blood now to combat a monstrous fact: only 3 out of 100 people donate blood. That's why we're teaming up with Warner Bros. Pictures and Legendary Pictures to celebrate the epic new film, Godzilla x Kong: The New Empire, and inviting donors to rise together and give blood. When donors share their strength by coming to give March 25-April 7, they'll get an exclusive Godzilla x Kong: The New Empire and Red Cross T-shirt, while supplies last. (Details are available at RedCrossBlood.org/GXK.*)

In recent weeks, the Red Cross has seen an encouraging increase in the blood supply, but blood and platelet donation appointments remain vital this month. People of all blood types – especially those with type O blood – are critical to ensuring hospital shelves can be replenished as soon as possible.

To book a time to give, visit RedCrossBlood.org, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, or call 1-800-RED CROSS. Additionally, all who come to give April 8-28 will get a $10 e-gift card to a merchant of choice, plus be automatically entered for a chance to win one of two $7,000 gift cards. Visit RedCrossBlood.org/Spring for details.

How to donate blood

Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enable the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood and platelet donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, before arriving at the blood drive. To get started, follow the instructions at RedCrossBlood.org/RapidPass or use the Blood Donor App.

Amplify your impact – volunteer!

Another way to support the lifesaving mission of the Red Cross is to become a volunteer blood donor ambassador at Red Cross blood drives. Blood donor ambassadors help greet, check-in and thank blood donors to ensure they have a positive donation experience. Volunteers can also serve as transportation specialists, playing a vital role in ensuring lifesaving blood products are delivered to nearby hospitals. For more information and to apply for either position visit RedCross.org/GiveTime.

About the American Red Cross:

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides comfort to victims of disasters; supplies about 40% of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; distributes international humanitarian aid; and supports veterans, military members and their families. The Red Cross is a nonprofit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to deliver its mission. For more information, please visit redcross.org/mndaks.

Jaden Dougal's Research is Out of This World

RAPID CITY, SD (March 28, 2024) — Getting to work on cutting-edge research is a privilege typically reserved for graduate students, but South Dakota Mines is not your typical university, and Jaden Dougal, a junior mechanical engineering major from Rockwall, Texas, is not your typical student.

Dougal has been helping conduct research on laser ablation for efficient space debris removal. She describes it as using space-based lasers to target debris in low earth orbit: shooting them with a nanosecond or femtosecond laser to change the debris' trajectory — either slow it down enough to fall into the Earth's atmosphere to burn up or speed it up enough to be sent to a graveyard orbit.

Dougal can participate in this research thanks to Prasoon Diwakar, PhD, an assistant professor of mechanical engineering, and research supported from the NASA South Dakota Space Grant Consortium.

"Dr. Diwakar reached out to me at the end of my sophomore year and asked if I would like to conduct research with him. I said yes, but I wanted to be involved with an aerospace project, so we started researching how to remove and mitigate space debris using lasers," Dougal said.

She got involved because she wanted to be active in her department and perform academic work, such as research, in the aerospace field. She plans on pursuing a career in that industry upon graduating from Mines, either continuing her research or designing materials for heat transfer on spacecraft.

She adds that Diwakar has been an "incredible" research advisor throughout the process.

"He has guided me through grant applications, conference applications, poster design and how to be successful in the field," she said. "I have learned so much from him, and I am truly grateful for this opportunity to work with him."

Recently, Dougal's research took her to the American Physical Society's (APS) March meeting in Minneapolis, Minn. Dougal heard about the opportunity through Diwakar and applied online for an undergraduate poster presentation.

Dougal's presentation session lasted for three hours and included several meetings with judges. Dougal said she had no more than five minutes of downtime between visitors to her poster. After the presentation, she was named one of the top presenters of the session.

But that wasn't the only big thing that happened to Dougal in March. She was accepted into graduate school at Mines and will continue her research on laser ablation for her master's thesis.

She picked Mines because she had wanted to be an engineer since visiting the Johnson Space Center for a Girl Scout trip when she was nine years old and falling in love with both aerospace and engineering. Wanting to move to a different part of the country, she found home at Mines after meeting with Pierre Laroche, PhD, professor and department head of mechanical engineering at Mines.

"I think that if you truly want to be an engineer, there is no better education than South Dakota Mines," she said.

Why should people vote for you?

I'm in no way a politician; in fact I'm not very political at all, but I believe that I can bring a fresh approach to how the city commission functions and feel compelled to do something that will benefit the community. The way I approach and look at things is different than most. I'm very big on looking at all sides, doing extensive research if need be and trying to understand all sides before making a decision. I don't have any agenda's and truly believe I can be an objective voice for the community. A voice that listens to the people and truly considers how voting a specific way will affect them not only currently but down the road. We want to have a community that we are proud of. A community that supports the young and old alike. A community that promotes growth. A community that emphasizes the qualities we want the younger generation to take note of, because they are the generation that will be shaping the future.

3. What issues are most important to you to address upon election?

I don't have a preconceived agenda or any specific issue I'm dying to address. I do have questions about certain things but need more information to form an opinion on the subject.

One thing, I did have difficulty understanding when the pool went out for bid, and still do. Why does the city not broadcast special meetings like they do the normal city commission meetings. After all, if you plan to hold a commission meeting whether at the normal Monday night time or at a special time it should be conducted the same way. People should have the same ability to know what's happening. By not broadcasting it, it looks as though the city is trying to hide something, especially when the majority of special meetings are held at times that most of the public is at work.

4. Any additional information would you like readers to know?

Again, I'm not a politician and I don't claim to know all of the issues that face Canton. To some people that may be a bad thing and to others that might be seen as a good thing. I definitely bring a fresh approach to the community, will this be a major learning curve for me. Yes, but I feel that I'm able to take on this challenge and that I'm able to look at the situations that are affecting our city with a fresh and objective view. An approach that gives a voice to the people. After all, the commissioner position is an elected office and the role is to represent the public's interest not just your individual opinion. Sometimes what is in the best interest of the public is not always the popular opinion, but it needs to happen for the community as a whole. I've already learned a lot in the last month by going door to door and holding a couple open houses about what issues the community thinks needs addressing.

6 tips for Planning a Graduation Party

Graduation season is a festive time of year. Each year, graduating students close a notable chapter in their lives. But as one chapter closes, another opens.

Many families commemorate graduation with a celebration. Planning a graduation party requires some work, but the efforts can be well worth it in the end. Here are six tips for planning a graduation party.

1. Start early with planning

Graduation season is a busy time of year. Many notable events take place in spring. In addition to graduation, Mother's Day, weddings, communions, make up many people's spring social schedule. Each of these special events will be competing in a relatively small window of time for the same vendors and services in various communities. Set a date for the graduation party as soon as possible so that all other components of planning can fall into line. Also, it would be wise to send out invitations well in advance so guests can plan ahead and make it to the festivities.

2. Set a budget

Graduation season can stretch families' budgets. Graduation caps and gowns, travel, gifts, and special occasion attire will need to be purchased. It is important to budget accordingly if you plan to throw a party. Budget will dictate whether yours is a large affair or something more intimate. Realistically assess what you can afford before you make any promises.

3. Plan easy food options

Food is not the focal point of a graduation party like it is during a wedding reception. Therefore, hosts have more leeway with the menu when planning a graduation party. Choose finger foods and others that can be grabbed and eaten on the go, as people will want to mingle and have time to congratulate the graduate.

4. Choose the right venue

Budget may dictate the type of venue. Having a graduation party at home can work, provided you have the space. If your graduate has requested a theme, then the party location can align with that theme. For example, a luau theme may work best around a pool or at the beach. If you will be hiring entertainment, make sure there is enough space and electrical hookups for equipment as well. Give neighbors a heads-up if you'll be hosting at home.

5. Consider an open-house event

Various graduation parties may be going on at the same time, particularly on weekends. Consider an open time frame for guests to drop by and then leave when they desire. This makes it easy for the graduate's friends to stop by when they can, rather than having a fixed schedule for the party.

6. Personalize decorations

Set the party apart with some personalized decorations that fit the theme. This can include using school colors, photography, the graduate's name, or specific quotes or interests of the graduate on banners and more. Personalized decorations also mean that the grad can save something to serve as a memento of this exciting time in his or her life.

4. Any additional information would you like readers to know?

Additional information:

I bring a wealth of community engagement experience and a genuine passion for the betterment of our city. I have raised my family here; I understand the struggles and issues that face all of us. I am an independent thinker I will represent all the constituents of this city equally and fairly. Being a lifelong resident, my roots run deep in Canton and together, let's build a stronger community for everyone.

Chad Skiles

2. Why am I running for city commission:

I had numerous citizens and family approach me and ask me to run this year and after some soul searching, I decided that the time is right.

Why should people vote for me:

This is always a difficult question to answer when humble is a word often used to describe myself. I pride myself in being an honest and truthful person who feels integrity is a must. I am straight forward and am never afraid to tackle a controversial or difficult issue. I am actively involved in City and County government having attended in person over 95% of all commission meetings over the last five years. I am a fact checker, a researcher, and always reading to learn and better understand things. I am not intimidated to be vocal, to speak in public forums, or to call out an issue or an elected official when it comes to being open, transparent and telling the truth. What every elected official must remember is that the citizens, the voters, the constituents are their bosses and should always remember that when making decisions that affects everyone. Attentiveness to detail, being engaged and keeping personal opinions and agendas at home is a must. Understanding when a conflict occurs and the recognition of having to abstain or recuse themselves from an agenda item or a vote is imperative, especially in a small town because it will only lead to unwanted/unneeded controversy.

3. What issues are most important to you to address upon election:

I see this question as a series of issues. It starts with promoting and actively engaging in development, including housing, business, schools, and recreation. Without all those components working together, we have a stagnant community. An improved communication structure is also important between the City, the County and the School District. Without that, working together and promoting becomes impossible. On the other hand, we live in a beautiful old community that is rich in history. But with that, infrastructure upgrades have become essential for the existing parts of our town. A good balance between new and old is what our Commission needs to strive for as that in turn brings new people, new couples, new families that will help grow our town. With a growing population, that brings a larger tax base that can be used to finance these needed functions of operating a City. It also allows for growth within our school system, which is top notch in the education and extracurricular activities that are provided. We have the best of the best in our teachers, staff and school board. Improvements in our downtown are desperately needed to revitalize our business district as well, because without that, it becomes very difficult to attract business when we are constantly fighting for business with Sioux Falls that is a short 15 miles away. I would be remiss if I didn't mention our city public safety agencies. As I have stated publicly numerous times, I will always support our Police Department because they are a necessary component to keeping Canton and its citizens safe. We are so fortunate to have a volunteer fire department who is ready at a moments notice to respond to any emergency and the luxury of a full-time advanced life support ambulance service when many communities are struggling to keep their volunteer ambulance services open. We have an amazing staff of employees in our public works departments and city hall that I cannot leave out. They are always welcoming, friendly and willing to help with or answer any questions that I bring to them. Last but certainly not least, I must address our senior citizens. They are the backbone of Canton who shed many blood, sweat and tears to make this town what it is today. In return, we have a responsibility to do whatever we can to provide them with services, from an accessible safe building for gatherings to providing meals. One word comes to mind when I think of our senior citizens and retired folks and that word is RESPECT!

4. Any additional information would you like readers to know:

In closing, I just want to thank Canton and all its citizens. Thank everyone for allowing me to call this wonderful town my home. Thank everyone for allowing me to be your neighbor, co-worker, and friend. Thank everyone for allowing me to be an advocate and a voice for those who cannot. I have proudly dedicated 40+ years of my life to the public service of others and I would be honored to continue to serve and become your next city commissioner. I gratefully ask for your support and your vote on April 9.

Thank you!

CONGRESSMAN
Representing SOUTH DAKOTA

Service and Sacrifice

By Rep. Dusty Johnson

March 28, 2024

BIG Update

March 29 is Vietnam War Veterans Day, a day on which we remember and honor those who served in the Vietnam War. Earlier this week, I had the privilege of meeting 24 men and women who served our country during the Vietnam War era. Since 2019, I have been participating in the Vietnam Veteran Commemoration Program to honor and give a warm welcome home to Vietnam-era veterans, including many who were never greeted properly when returning after the war. Through this program, I've heard the stories of nearly 1,000 veterans who sacrificed for our country. Whether one served as a fire control technician, heavy duty diesel truck mechanic, torpedoman, or flight surgeon, each individual's story is impactful. Join me in thanking them for their service. It's never too late to do so.

BIG Idea

Accessibility to health care is crucial, and rural South Dakota knows that well. Thankfully, providers such as Prairie Lakes do a great job ensuring South Dakotans receive quality health care. Prairie Lakes provides care for 90,000 people in South Dakota and Minnesota and recently made the National Rural Health Association's Top 20 rural and community hospitals. During my visit this week, we discussed the importance of software infrastructure, caring for all individuals, and delivering services to patients.

BIG News

You may have seen the news of the cargo ship colliding with the Francis Scott Key Bridge in Baltimore, Maryland, causing it to collapse. I'm grateful for the first responders at the scene working to carry out search and recovery efforts.

Conversations have begun on what the impact of this devastating event will have on our supply chains. The Port of Baltimore handles over $80 billion of foreign cargo each year and is a hub for autos, coal, and machinery. Adjustments are already being made to reallocate cargo and ensure the supply chain keeps moving in hopes disruptions will be as minimal as possible. My team and I will continue to monitor this situation as more information becomes available.

Employer: Sanford Health
Job Title: Certified Family Nurse Practitioner

Resident of Canton for: 8 years
Family (if applicable): Husband (Ryan) and Kids (Nicholas, Ethan, Braelyn, & Hobey)

1. Name any civic, professional or religious organizations of which you are a member; positions you have held; and education or other credentials you would like to mention.

- American Association of Nurse Practitioners
- Member of the Canton United Methodist Church
- Certified Family Nurse Practitioner

2. Why are you running for Canton School Board? Why should people vote for you?

I am running for Canton School Board to become more involved in our community and school. As a mother of 4 kids (3 of which who currently attending Canton's Elementary, Middle, & High school), I would like to help provide local leadership that improves our students' achievements. My goal is to help provide students with the best possible opportunities and learning environment by reviewing our district's policies.

3. What role do you wish to take on the School Board (i.e. a particular interest/experience you bring)?

I plan to take on a role as an open minded, middle of the road, and honest citizen. My career as a nurse practitioner has provided an opportunity to work with patients and their family members who come from all walks of life and all have unique needs. The same is true of the students, staff, and families in our school district. My first-hand experience in the spectrum of needs, challenges, and resources that our required to promote health and wellness in healthcare is easily translatable to our school district. Each student and staff member is coming to school with varying levels of need and access to support. I hope to contribute my abilities as a problem solver to assist everyone in achieving the best outcomes possible within our school district.

My experience as a foster parent also provides me with a unique perspective on some of the challenges families and students may be facing / coping with at home as well as how those challenges could affect other students as staff.

4. What issues are most important to you to address upon election?

I currently do not have any specific issues right at hand that I am hoping to bring forward right after election.

Remember to vote on Tuesday, April 9 for Canton City Commissioner and Canton School Board. Sample ballots are on page 10. Vote from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Canton United Methodist Church.

Employer: Self employed as: Owner of The Wheel Public House

Resident of Canton for: Almost 2 years

Family (if applicable): My husband, Tom, and our son, Benjamin, 7 years old and a first grader at Lawrence Elementary. I also have two adult daughters (ages 30 & 26) & two son-in-laws.

1. Name any civic, professional or religious organizations of which you are a member; positions you have held; and education or other credentials you would like to mention.

I currently serve on the Canton school board, I am the secretary of the Canton Small Business Group, I own a small business in Canton, I do before school care at Lawrence Elementary for the Latchkey program and you can find me at Canton Lutheran Church on Sundays with my son, Benjamin.

2. Why are you running for Canton School Board? Why should people vote for you?

I'm running because I am a parent of a first grader and I want to keep Canton schools a place that we parents recognize and feel secure sending our children. My husband and I left Washington State to move to a place where our son could attend a public school without being taught things that are not appropriate and that would strip him of his childhood innocence. I saw how the schools in my former district devolved from being a top school district in the country when I graduated, into a place where there are low standards, no consistent rules, where the teachers are openly political and the administration blocks parental involvement in their children's school lives. That district's board implemented lax policies and inappropriate curriculum and there was little involvement by parents and the public to challenge them.

I am aware of the other foot in the door that allows situations like that to occur, which is accepting grants that have clauses that come with unintended consequences. I will not vote to approve improper curriculum, I will read grants and other funding sources' stipulations fully, and I will encourage parents to be involved by attending meetings and holding us accountable to you and your children.

3. What role do you wish to take on the School Board (i.e. a particular interest/experience you bring)?

I am especially interested in curriculum and policy because, as I mentioned, I have previously worked and volunteered in schools and saw both the good and the bad when it came to policies and curriculum.

4. What issues are most important to you to address upon election?

First, keeping school school! I firmly believe public schools are meant to educate children, not replace parenting or challenge values taught in your home.

Second, I would love to explore possible opportunities for students that are going into the trades, either through partnership with a trade school or a mentorship/internship program with local tradesmen.

I hope to be a good steward of your tax dollars and an effective advocate for your children!

I am a youth leader at our church. I am also on the board of our local Pheasants Forever chapter, where our main goal is to promote and teach youth about the importance of wildlife conservation.

2. Why are you running for Canton School Board? Why should people vote for you?

We moved to the Canton school district when my oldest was getting ready to start kindergarten in 2013. Now, my wife, Erin, and I have 6 children and our youngest is starting kindergarten this fall. With that being said, I am running for reelection, and hope for the vote from my community, so I can continue to be a part of the district we call home. We love this district. I feel it is my civic duty to make sure it continues to provide the best education for my children and for their peers.

3. What role do you wish to take on the School Board (i.e. a particular interest/experience you bring)?

I wish to take on the role of supporter. Here in Canton we are blessed with some pretty amazing teachers and staff. I hope to support them in their efforts to teach and administer to the youth of our district. I have never worked for a school system before running for School Board. I have, however, owned and operated my own business since 2011 and still continue to do so to this day. #1

4. What issues are most important to you to address upon election?

(#1) The safety of our children. I want to make sure our kids continue to feel safe in our school district.

(#2) Teacher/staff retention and the new hiring of additional teachers/staff. In today's incredibly stressful and competitive school markets, I want to make sure Canton strives to provide our teachers and staff with the maximum benefits and compensations we are able to provide.

Why Some Bridges Collapse

Only four months after completion in 1940, the Tacoma Narrows Bridge in Washington State collapsed. This new suspension bridge was based on what were presumed to be the full set of engineering requirements of the time, and was considered a state-of-the-art structure that had eliminated all possible risks. But unlike other bridges that served as models, this bridge was subjected to regular high winds. Suspended bridges experience "resonance," a physics principle most of us encountered when we used a swing on a playground and additional pushes at the right time cause us to swing higher and higher.

In the case of the Tacoma Narrows Bridge, when the sideways winds reached 42 miles per hour, it would push again and again accelerating the swing of the bridge until it collapsed.

In my library of books on biology, education and China, I have a few books on engineering, all by Henry Petroski. This explanation of the Tacoma bridge collapse is highlighted in his first book, To Engineer Is Human: The Role of Failure in Successful Design in 1982. He wrote 17 more books on engineering. And while the Francis Scott Key Bridge collapse was not caused by wind resonance, many of the concepts he explained can help us understand current dilemmas in engineering without having to go back to graduate school.

Henry Petroski (1942–2023) was an American engineer and popular author in a field that rarely produced literature understandable to the untrained public. As a professor of civil engineering and history at Duke University, he specialized in failure analysis. Had he not died of cancer last June, he would have been central to today's analysis of the Baltimore bridge collapse.

While the impact of a large cargo ship on the slender concrete piers, not wind, was the cause of this bridge collapse, he would have noticed how the entire truss collapsed rapidly. He would be interested in whether the design was minimal to known safety levels, or whether additional strength had been built in to anticipate unknown forces.

One of his books provides an example of how new computer capabilities allowed the design of new roof supports that were just sufficient to hold up the roof, allowing cost savings by using less metal. But an unexpected event takes out one of the many supports, and the whole roof then caves in. Petroski explains: "There is clearly no guarantee of success in designing new things on the basis of past successes alone, and this is why artificial intelligence, expert systems, and other computer-based design aids whose logic follows examples of success can only have limited application."

Petroski continues: "One of the paradoxes of engineering is that successes don't teach you very much. A successful bridge teaches you that that bridge works."

Petroski's insight into the value of analyzing failure made him very valuable in our new age of highly computerized design, our blind acceptance of digital answers, and our current obsession with AI.

He first came to my attention when I read his article in American Scientist on the building of the gigantic Three Gorges Dam in China. While it was only partially completed, China invited him to come inspect their mammoth project that was underway. To his surprise, he found the huge dam to be well-constructed with abundant extra structuring to maintain its safety.

Since then, China has continued on a massive building of bridges, now over 45% of the world's total bridges, and they span rivers and bays far longer than any American bridges. In viewing those bridges, their concrete piers appear far more robust than the slender piers of the bridge that collapsed in Baltimore. Because of their much larger population of newer bridges, Chinese engineers will be watching our response to this disaster and re-examining their own blueprints.

Was the "continuous truss" design and slender concrete piers of the Baltimore bridge a factor in the bridge collapse? Today's engineers will eventually know, and they will use the wisdom described by Petroski. The real science of engineering relies on understanding failure.
