Reporting on Noem Credit Card Spending Demonstrates Why Access to Government Records is Important

By David Bordewyk
South Dakota News & Media Association

An amazing thing happened in South Dakota recently. Citizens were able to see the detailed expenditures of a government official and the sky didn't fall.

Of course, I'm talking about recent news reporting about credit card expenses from former Gov. Kristi Noem's time in office and the last year of former Gov. Dennis Daugaard's tenure.

The Dakota Scout initially requested the credit card records in May 2024. That request was denied by state Auditor Rich Sattgast in June. The Scout filed a suit in September in response to the denial. Earlier this year, Sattgast and The Scout reached a settlement that led to the release of about 4,000 pages of redacted credit card bills, state vouchers and submitted receipts from Noem's tenure as governor.

In recent weeks, The Scout and other news outlets in the state have reported on details of the $750,000 billed to Noem's two state-issued credit cards during her six years in office. Many expenses routine and mundane: lunch at Culver's and coffee at Starbucks. Other details rather extraordinary, such as lodging at the Venetian, a luxury resort in Las Vegas. The Scout and Sioux Falls Live teamed up to create a searchable online database of the credit card records.

Back to the sky not falling.

A chief reason given for denying The Scout's request was that it could jeopardize the governor's safety and security because the documents included detailed information about the security provided to the governor. Certainly, a legitimate concern.

Similar concerns were raised in 2021 when legislators introduced bills attempting to seek disclosure of taxpayer money used to provide security for the governor and other public officials.

As the excellent reporting by The Scout and others has demonstrated these past few weeks, it is indeed possible to provide citizens with essential information about the use of taxpayer money without jeopardizing the safety and security of our public officials. It's that simple. It can be done.

Time and again when attempts are made to strengthen public access to government records and meetings in South Dakota, we are met by a tidal wave of reasons and excuses why it can't be done. Some of them legitimate and much of them simply a smokescreen and a bluff.

Fortunately, The Scout called the bluff and doggedly pursued what should be basic taxpayer-rights information and – by the way – is a no-brainer public record in most any other state.

Which brings me to the rest of the story. Since The Scout broke the news about Noem's credit cards, the newspaper and its staffers have become the targets of intimidation and legal threats brought by Noem and allies.

It's similar to what we've seen elsewhere – attack, intimidate and even sue the press into submission.

On March 7, Noem's personal lawyer threatened to sue The Scout over its reporting, claiming "false, misleading and inaccurate statements" about the credit cards. Washington, D.C., attorney Trevor Stanley demanded the newspaper cease and desist its reporting. "Otherwise, we will consider all legal remedies, including a lawsuit seeking maximum compensatory and punitive damages, that we estimate at millions of dollars," Stanley wrote in an email to The Scout.

Scout co-founders Jonathan Ellis and Joe Sneve responded, in part saying: "We stand by our reporting and consider it an honor to bring the truth about government spending to South Dakotans. And we're always willing to defend it in a court of law, too."

Within hours of the cease-and-desist letter being delivered to The Scout, Fox News published a story about the Noem team demanding an end to the "fake news." This past week, Sioux Falls Live reported about a political action committee with ties to Noem running paid social media posts trying to discredit The Scout and its coverage of Noem.

Sadly, it all sounds rather familiar, don't you think? Thank goodness for a free and independent press protected by the First Amendment in our United States Constitution.

And by the way, federal law also makes it a crime to conspire to threaten or intimidate any person who is exercising their rights and privileges guaranteed in the Constitution. (See 18 U.S.C. §241)

Why does any of this matter to you?

This is not simply a skirmish between a public official and a newspaper. It's about accountability in government and your right as a citizen to know how your tax dollars are being spent.

The week of March 16-22 is Sunshine Week. It's the annual observance of why open government is essential to good government.

Here is my wish list for Sunshine Week: The day comes soon when public access to basic government information – such as the expenditure of taxpayer dollars – is the norm and not the exception in our state.

In the meantime, the work to protect and enhance the public's right to know goes on. Even in South Dakota.

David Bordewyk is executive director at South Dakota NewsMedia Association, which represents the state's newspapers and digital news outlets.

Legislative Report

By Kevin Jensen
REPRESENTATIVE

Final Week

I know I have not submitted many articles this session, and some were not printed. The last 4 weeks have been pretty intense and I was focusing more on what needed to be done to advance the good bills and kill the bad ones. Educating other legislators on the pitfalls of the proposed prison was a never ending task, and it’s not over. I hope many of you follow me on FB because I have had almost daily updates there. A bill that is currently drawing a lot of attention is HB1218, a bill to address the imposition of firearm restrictions on certain employees, officers, volunteers, and other individuals. The goal of 1218 was to limit the number of gun free zones.

There is a faction of individuals that will always be critical of the second amendment, then there are others that just like to stir up controversy. Some blame the ‘new’ members in the legislature for a change in direction in many areas. It’s not just the legislators, it is the people who put them in office that wanted a change of direction. The voters are paying more attention and realizing their voice CAN be heard if they step up.

HB1218 passed because it had a lot of support, not just support the new legislators. This is what happened. The senate passed the amended version of HB1218 with a vote of 30-4. The House did not immediately concur with the amendments and elected to send it to a conference committee of 3 House members and 3 senators. In that committee there was opportunity for public input but only one opponent testified. After testimony and discussion the vote was 5-0 to send it back to both houses with a ‘do concur’ as amended recommendation (one house member did not attend the meeting) The Senate voted along party lines 32-3 and the house voted 56-14 and it passed as amended.

Any objective person would say a veto would be purely symbolic, because it would fail. To override a veto the senate needs 24 votes against the bill and the House needs 47. With only 3 in the senate against the bill and only 14 in the house I seriously doubt the Governor wants to buck those odds.

For those who are concerned about the passage of HB1218 we need to look back and remember that the media outlets said constitutional carry (2019) would be like Dodge City with blood in the streets? That never happened. Remember when the stand your ground law passed (2021) and the media said it would lead to more people dying? That never happened. Remember when we allowed enhanced concealed carry for approved individuals in some schools (2024) and they said it would make schools more dangerous? That too, did not happen. Remember, it is still illegal to be intoxicated and possess a loaded firearm ANYWHERE, even in your own backyard.

There were several monumental bills passed; the most crucial was HB1052, not allowing the use of eminent domain for carbon oxide pipelines.. I know you have probably heard and read a lot about this bill but I would just say I was proud to be able to be a part of this. In the Senate those who strongly supported SB201 last session offered an amendment that said if 75% of the easements were voluntary, the other 25% would have to comply. SB201 supporters made the comment “we can’t change the rules in the middle of the game.” My response on the floor was that 1052 passed with a super majority in the House State Affairs Committee, and on the House floor, and in the Senate State Affairs Committee; amending it on the Senate floor WAS an attempt to change the rules in the middle of the game. As you know, it passed and has been signed by the Governor.

HJR5003 was a resolution requiring a 60% vote to pass a constitutional amendment. People need to educate themselves on what the ‘50% plus one’ really means for a constitutional amendment. If you have a 69.93 % voter turnout as we did last year, that means about 34.96% of the registered voters, plus one, can change our constitution. To change the US constitution it takes 38 states, or 75%, to ratify an amendment.

Do people honestly believe that only 35% of the registered voters should be able to change our state constitution? That means 65% of the registered voters said no, in one way or another. In the legislature, not voting is the same as voting “no” when the votes are counted because only ‘yes’ votes count to pass a bill. Should all of our laws passed by the legislature pass with only 35% of the members voting ‘yes’? Failing to vote is the greatest enemy of democracy.

Sit down at the piano with Good Samaritan – Canton resident Florence Schulte and one quickly experiences the pure joy that music can bring. The new black ebony Kawai piano was purchased with gifts from donors responding to the center’s holiday fundraising appeal. “We are very appreciative of all the gifts that helped make the purchase of this new piano possible,” commented Administrator Myron Moore. “Music really does have a way of lifting spirits and bringing people together.” The piano is played each weekday to entertain residents in the dining room before lunch but also provides music for monthly birthday parties and other special events. For many residents, the music brings back memories, as a familiar tune transports them to years gone by.

HISTORY REVISITED

By Gaynor Johnson

Dakota Territory became a reality on March 2, 1861 with the signing of the Organic Act by President James Buchanan. It was a vast area embracing the present states of North and South Dakota, most of Montana, much of Wyoming and a small portion of Nebraska north of the Niobrara River.

One hundred years later in 1961, the Dakota Territory Centennial Commission published “Dakota Panorama”. Twenty writers participated each preparing a chapter about a different aspect of Dakota Territory. For this column I will be using a portion of chapter 6 written by Douglas Chittick.

Before I sign off I just want you all to know that the 3rd Annual Canton Chalk Art Festival will be held on June 7 at Jack Fox Park. Now part of the Celebrate Canton activities, this event is geared towards our younger population but anyone, whether you are 8 or 80, can participate. In fact I got down on my 73 year old knees last summer and tried to act like I knew what I was doing. I know there will be a lot of young folks doing their incredible artwork on the sidewalks of the park but I’m hoping to see what other adults can do when given a bunch of chalk. You’ve got a lot of time to practice before this summer event rolls around and its a great way to unleash your inner chalk art skills. For me, I might be sporting kneepads this year. Happy reading as the first day of spring arrives this Thursday.

excerpts from A Recipe for Nationality Stew by Douglas Chittick

The popular slogan for South Dakota, “Land of Infinite Variety,” has reference most often to the many scenic wonders of the state, lakes, rivers, mountains, badlands, rich, agricultural fields and prairies. Each of these physical features represents a variety of occupational pursuits and opportunities. The slogan also has reference to the wide variety of mineral deposits, water and power resources, and the great agricultural and industrial opportunities currently in development. Yet, perhaps, the slogan has its most significant meaning in regard to our greatest resource: the people of South Dakota, who come from a wide variety of northern and western European nationality groups. These groups, with our native Indian population, have given us the rich cultural heritage we enjoy today.

Our immigrant stock came from widely different sections of Europe. Each group brought its own “know how.” The interchange of ideas among these people is the background for our social, economics and political ways of life. The best of these cultural heritages - attitudes, values, ideas and technologies - have emerged in the process of assimilation.

To understand and appreciate the history of South Dakota it is necessary to know something about the people who played such an important part in the development of our state. There is tendency to forget the contributions that the immigrants made during the formative years of statehood. The large proportion of the total population of the state that were immigrants adds significance to their study. These immigrants brought ideas and customs from many sources which have been pooled in the development of agriculture, industry, government, co-operation, music, art, drama and the handicrafts.

Reference is often made to America as a “melting pot,” a place where the people of many nationality groups have come to make their homes, to work and live together, so that posterity might enjoy freedom and a greater social heritage. The “melting pot” idea implies that sooner or later the people of all nationalities will become the same; that they will have many of the same values, attitudes, memories, hopes and desires; that inasmuch as the greatest number of them are Caucasians, it will be difficult to distinguish one group from another; that they will become completely assimilated.

Lowry Nelson characterizes assimilation- the association of these many different groups- differently. Rather than think of it as a melting pot, he suggests we think of it as a “stew.” If we think of each vegetable in the stew as representing a nationality group we find that stew is not only made up of the vegetables which are still identifiable but also the “flavor” which comes from all of them. After 100 years we still find compact areas of nationality groups, but among all of them we find the same “flavor”- a rich cultural heritage. The fact that many groups are still identifiable adds variety and interests among us in our association. Each nationality group has made outstanding contributions to our culture and can therefore be proud of its heritage. The frugality and practicality of Germans, the co-operative enterprises and emphasis on education of the Scandinavians, the happy, optimistic and industrious Bohemians, the strict moral conduct of the Dutch, and the contributions of other nationality groups are now a part of the “flavor” of our society.

Men Don’t Belong in Women’s Sports

By Sen. John Thune

More than 50 years ago, Congress passed landmark legislation to create equal spaces and opportunities in education for women. Title IX is particularly notable for its effect on women’s sports. By requiring that recipients of federal funding create equal athletic opportunities for women and girls, Title IX paved the way for the women’s and girls’ athletic programs that exist today at K-12 schools, colleges, and universities around the country.

But today the gains made possible by Title IX are under attack. We’ve seen biological men identifying as women take spots on teams, medals, and opportunities from women. It’s happening in a range of sports. A female runner acknowledged that first place was not within reach because she knew there would be no winning a race against a biological male who finished a full minute and 22 seconds ahead of the second-place, female finisher. A male pole vaulter won the high school women’s competition with a vault that exceeded the second-place vaulter by six inches. A high school girls’ basketball team had nearly half of its season’s points scored by a male. And that’s just a sampling of the stories.

The United Nations reported last year, “The replacement of the female sports category with a mixed-sex category has resulted in an increasing number of female athletes losing opportunities, including medals, when competing against males.” The U.N. estimated that more than 600 female athletes had lost almost 900 medals to biological men in 29 sports.

The problems here are obvious. First of all, there is the physical danger that can be posed by men participating in women’s and girls’ sports. But there’s also fairness, equality, and opportunity. Title IX was created to give women opportunities that had been denied them. But allowing biological men to compete against women means robbing female athletes of not just medals and trophies, but also scholarships, spots on a team, and opportunities to compete in front of college scouts.

This isn’t fair. Both of my daughters are former athletes, and I know how much competing in sports matters

A Historic Session – and a Path Forward

By: Gov. Larry Rhoden
March 14, 2025

We just wrapped up the 2025 legislative session – our 100th in South Dakota’s history. It’s been quite a ride. Not only did we celebrate this history of our state in this Capitol, but we also navigated a historic succession of power. I stepped into the role of governor mid-session, and that’s never happened in South Dakota history. I’m proud to say we didn’t just keep the ship afloat – we made real progress to keep South Dakota strong, safe, and free.

This session, we got things done. The first bill I signed banned sanctuary cities in South Dakota. That’s a clear statement that we support President Trump and Secretary Noem in their work to keep our communities safe from cartels and human traffickers. We also passed pro-life and pro-Second Amendment bills that reflect who we are as a state.

The House and Senate passed SB 216, my bill to address the rising burden of property taxes on homeowners. I signed it in the Capitol Rotunda to highlight the importance of this issue for our people. That’s a win for homeowners, but there’s more work to do.

We delivered South Dakota’s 136th consecutive balanced budget. That took some tough calls, including over $70 million in cuts to executive branch agencies, all proposed by the Governor’s Office. I’ve heard plenty of folks in Pierre say we need to trim spending to ease property taxes. I’ve wrestled with property taxes and spending for years in the legislature; so I figured it’s time to break it down for you plain and simple.

Here’s the truth: the state collects $0 in property taxes – we don’t collect a penny. I told that to the leader of a South Dakota trade organization the other day, and he said – and I’m just the messenger here – “bullsh!t.” But it’s fact!

So if the state doesn’t collect property taxes, where does the money go? 56% funds our schools. Counties get 27%, cities 13%, and townships and special districts split the rest.

Then how do we cut property taxes? We’ve got three options: cut spending, shift the burden, or find new revenue. Cutting spending means slashing school budgets or county roads and public safety – there’s not the will for that. Shifting it – like we’ve seen unintentionally with rising home values – won’t fly either.

I’m taking a deeper look at option three: find new revenue to provide direct property tax relief. And when we do so, we’ll make it optional for counties. No mandates – each county will decide for themselves, either through their county commission or by a vote of the people.

This won’t be some top-down fix. It will be real tax relief for property owners, tailored to local needs. I will share this proposal with the legislature’s Property Tax Relief Task Force prior to their first meeting, and they will be able to chew on this over the summer. I’m open to more ideas, more imagination, more creative problem-solving – we need to focus on solutions, not excuses. Together, we’ll keep South Dakota the best place to live, work, and raise a family.

Overview—100th
Legislative Session

PAST:
My service as a House Representative for District 16 in 2023-24 was propelled from my concern for local and national level issues. Many changes have occurred in that time. During those two years, many of the bills I brought revolved around property rights, including the Public Utilities Commission application process, having a fair hearing in the courts, and eminent domain. The last primary election saw 14 legislators lose their seat, mostly because of property rights and local control concerns. The cries of SD landowners propelled them to petition for Referred Law 21 that was on the ballot in November of last year. Grassroots people from all walks of life, highly populated counties and areas where there are more cows than people, Democrats and Republicans, Independents and Libertarians, rich and poor, young and old joined together for this effort. The result was that 65 out of 66 counties in South Dakota repealed a law (SB201) from the 2024 legislative session.

Along with those things, we saw an increased concern for election integrity, transparency, property tax reform, and fiscal accountability. We also found out that there was to be a 1500 bed maximum security prison built in Lincoln County. This too was concering not only because of the location, but because of the massive cost of $825 million to build the prison. However, the bigger concern was if SD could afford the $20+million of ongoing costs annually to run the facility.

PRESENT:
This year’s 100th legislative session brought new leadership to Pierre. Speaker Jon Hansen was elected by the House, and I was privileged to serve as the first female Speaker Pro-Tempore. The Republican caucus elected Scott Odenbach as the Majority Leader, with Marty Overweg serving as Assistant Majority Leader. I was privileged to also serve as the Chair for the House Commerce and Energy Committee. The House was able to lead on many issues important to South Dakota:

HB 1052—THE RIGHT THING TO DO ! The day before our session began, many citizens of South Dakota showed up for a landowner rally in the rotunda. What a great day! We kicked it off announcing the legislation that was going to be proposed in 2025. I am proud to say that with the help of MANY others, I was able to Prime Sponsor HB 1052, a bill that prohibits a company carrying carbon oxide from exercising eminent domain. This passed overwhelmingly in the House with Senator Mark Lapka bringing it home in the Senate. One of the most moving moments came during the Senate Committee, when THE PEOPLE showed up with over half an hour of testimony! They filed through, one after another, giving a brief “ME TOO” to the bill! I was so pleased when Speaker Hansen walked into my office and told me that Governor Rhoden signed the bill. Thanks be to God!

PRISON. While in Pierre, I have also learned to play defense. House Bill 1025, which would have authorized the construction of the prison, was stopped. There were many issues that are concerning for not only Lincoln County, but the whole state! I have to give kudos to the Lincoln County NOPE group for their great effort in coming to Pierre, raising their voices, raising money, and being a force to be reckoned with! Also, Senator Kevin Jensen spent many hours researching the details of the project and was an integral part of shining light on the issues. I have been appointed to the Prison Task Force and our first meeting will be held on April 2 and 3 in Sioux Falls at the Military Heritage Alliance. Members of the public are

I wrote this week’s column almost twenty years ago, and as I read it just now, it spoke to me, so I decided to share it. Maybe it will speak to someone else.

A SHELTER IN THE TIME OF STORM
The question everyone asked Wednesday morning was “Where were you during the storm?” I was at church practicing with the praise band when someone hollered from the back of the church. We’re under a storm warning!” Everyone should either go home or head for the basement!” We put microphones away quickly, gathered up music and headed out. I was about to leave when a family walked in and asked if they could take refuge in our church basement. They were en route from their daughter’s softball game, were having supper across the street and thought our church looked safer. They were from Chancellor and were afraid to travel in that direction. I welcomed them, told them where the bathrooms were and showed them to the phone so they could call their daughter who was at home, to make sure she was aware of the approaching storm.

I was sure I could make it home, but hated to leave while this family, obviously nervous about the possibility of a tornado, was here. What if there was a tornado? I would have felt terrible about abandoning them.

About that time, two of our members, a mother and daughter, returned from having tried to get home. Unable to see through the rain, they had turned around and returned to the church. As we went into the fellowship hall and sat down, one of them who had gotten caught in the rain, mentioned being chilly. “Well,” I offered, “we could haul out the boxes of Christmas costumes and put them on. We could be shepherds and angels,” and to the dad I said “You could be Joseph.” We all chuckled, commenting how odd it would look if there were a tornado and we emerged dressed in such a way. Imagining how we would all look in Christmas costumes made us laugh, and the laughter eased the tension.

After a bit, my curiosity got the best of me and I went upstairs to see how things were looking from the north. We had located a radio and were keeping track of things through the constant weather updates, but storms fascinate me, so I had to see for myself. The storm was indeed raging, and I strained to listen for the sound of a freight train. As I stood there, I thought of the storms that come into people’s lives, and the effect those storms have on them. A story told by E. Stanley Jones came to mind, which describes an eagle flying high among the mountain crags. Suddenly, a quick storm descends and it seems for the moment that its fury will dash him to death against the cliffs. But the eagle faces the storm, tilts his wings at a proper angle and slowly the fury that might have crushed him begins to drive him upward until at last he rises above the storm. The very power that would have destroyed him becomes the power by which he reaches a new serenity high above the fury below. Faith in God is the tilting of the wings of the soul; the sorrows of life are the raging storm; slowly the soul rises until it moves into a richness and a peace never known before.

I thought, also, of the Andre Crouch song, entitled Through It All. “I thank God for the mountains, and I thank Him for the valleys, and I thank Him for the storms He’s brought me through. For if I’d never had a problem, I’d never know that He could solve them. I’d never know what faith in God could do.”

So often we don’t understand, in our humanness, why things happen, but God can handle our questions. And even if we get angry, He won’t reject us. Psalm 119:50 says, “My comfort in my suffering is this: your promise preserves my life.”

As soon as the brunt of the storm had moved east of us, we all left, and as I drove south towards home, I saw a beautiful double rainbow. I smiled and thanked God, for I knew His promise was true and we would all be alright.

welcome.
FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY. SB 145 was passed in response to stopping any future overpriced leases of buildings like the One Stop office in Sioux Falls. The state engaged in a 30 year, nearly $300 million lease for this facility. Future leases at that level will have to be approved by the legislature.
ELECTION ISSUES: No more voting by non-South Dakotans in our state elections—as it should be. HB 1066 and HB 1208 addressed this problem.
PROTECTING KIDS FROM MATERIAL HARMFUL TO MINORS: HB 1053 will protect kids from websites that contain this material.
PROTECTING LIFE: HB 1005 Families that want to pursue adoption will be aided by this bill.

FUTURE:
PRISON TASK FORCE: I will be serving on the Prison Task Force slated to meet four times this summer. Our first meeting will be in Sioux Falls. We will meet at the SD Military Heritage Alliance on April 2 and 3. Members of the public are welcome to attend.

PROPERTY TAX TASK FORCE: Passage of the Governor’s bill SB 216, will bring some relief to this issue. However, it is still not enough. This Task Force will be working this summer to bring LASTING relief to this issue. I stressed that this task force MUST do more than study a problem. We need solutions.

GOAC: The Government Operations and Audit Committee will be meeting this summer to DIG into areas of concern. I will be a part of this committee. SB 176 gives us more tools in the toolbox to accomplish this effort.

KEEPING IN TOUCH: I will be attending various events in District 16 and around the state this summer. The people of South Dakota are who we represent. Often, it is YOU who have not only questions but ANSWERS to some of the problems that we face. As always, I am honored to serve the people of District 16.

BIG Update
This week, I re-introduced my Traveler’s Gun Rights Act to protect the Second Amendment rights of law-abiding RV-ers, active-duty military, military spouses, and others who rely on P.O. Boxes as their mailing address.

Currently, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) does not recognize alternative addresses – like a P.O. Box – for firearms paperwork, although these types of addresses are allowable for a driver’s license. You shouldn’t be prevented from practicing your Second Amendment rights simply because you rely on a P.O. Box. I’ll continue to lead efforts like this to ensure the right to bear arms is accessible for all law-abiding Americans.

This is what’s left of a ghost town on the east side of the Missouri River south of Mobridge, S.D. This is the town foundations partially covered by water from the Ohae Dam lake stretching almost into North Dakota. But this town was doomed to destruction long before the dam was built. This is the ghost town remains of Le Beau, S.D. from early 1900’s. It was a thriving large cattle shipping point. Cattle were loaded on big barges and brought across the river and unloaded here into large holding pens.

This was the bank officers and other merchants all enjoying a happy hour in a local bar. This was when it was built to here to the holding pens and cattle were shipped out to St. Paul, Minn. and even Chicago if they got enough ice packed in to make the trip.

This is one of the downtown pictures looking west of the Missouri River way down the Hill. This town had a big gun fight in one of the bars downtown a son of a big rich west river rancher was shot and killed with a .44 revolver. The rancher was furious and he did not think he got justice, but suddenly the telegraph wires were fire hoses ruined by cutting in half and then the town, were no arrests were made, and it is an unsolved mystery. Many people thought they really knew who did this.

This is one of the giant barge boats, that hauled cattle from west bank of big river to east bank to the huge holding pens. It appears to be a steamship that pushed the cattle barge across the river.

SDHSAA Ejection Policy For Students, Coaches, Fans Clarified

By Dana Hess
For the S.D. NewsMedia Association

PIERRE — The board of directors of the South Dakota High School Activities Association spent some time during Wednesday’s meeting clarifying the ejection policy for students, coaches and spectators.

The current policy says that a coach or student ejected from a contest will “be ineligible for the next regularly scheduled contest at that level of competition and all other contests in the interim at any level of competition.” A second violation in the same sports season carries a mandatory four-contest period of ineligibility/suspension. A third ejection in the same season results in the student or coach being suspended for the rest of the season.

The policy for student suspensions was clarified to note how the suspension takes effect if the next contest is a multi-day event like a state tournament. In team sports like basketball, volleyball, soccer, football, softball and competitive cheer and dance the athlete would miss the first scheduled contest within the tournament and all other contests that day.

If the first post suspension event is a tournament in an individual sport like track and field, cross-country, tennis, golf, wrestling or gymnastics, the athlete would miss the first scheduled event of the tournament as well as all other contests on that day.

In the sport of wrestling, that means missing the entire event as a suspended wrestler would not be able to weigh in on the first day.

SDHSAA Executive Director Dan Swartos said the clarification was needed because missing the next contest means different things in different sports. He used the example of basketball and tennis. Missing the next event in basketball means missing the next game. In tennis, there may be another match the same day and the policy needed to be clear that the ejection was for the entire day.

In the sport of football, if a player is ejected in the first half of a game on an “illegal personal contact” penalty, he will miss the second half of the game. An ejection for that penalty in the second half of the game would result in missing the first half of the next game.

The rules for suspended students would be applied in the same manner for coaches who have been ejected from a game prior to a tournament. A suspended coach is not allowed to travel with the team or be at the venue during any contests while under suspension. A school that allows an ineligible coach or student to participate will face a mandatory forfeit of the contest.

A spectator who is ejected, either by a game official or a school administrator, will not be allowed to attend any contests for the remainder of the day and will be barred from attending the next contest at that level of competition. A second violation carries a mandatory four-game suspension. A third ejection during a single sports season results in suspension from attendance for the rest of that season.

Swartos said the policy was clarified to note that a spectator’s ejection was valid whether it came from a game official or a school administrator.

For a spectator, if the next contest after a suspension is a multi-day tournament, the suspension shall hold for the first day of that event. It was noted that the SDHSAA ejection standards are the minimum requirement for schools to follow. Schools may have harsher fan ejection policies as well as stiffer penalties for coach and player ejections.

In order to return after an ejection, students, coaches and spectators must watch the NFHS Sportsmanship Course on the NFHSLearn website and show proof of completion to the SDHSAA office.

PERMIT NO. 3574A-3

Notice is given that the Water Management Board will review Future Use Permit No. 3574A-3 held by the Clay Rural Water System for progress made in the development of the water reserved by the Permit and future plans for development of the water reserved by Permit No. 3574A-3. This permit was approved 1977 and currently reserves 1,000 acre-feet from the Missouri River from not yet specified points in Clay or Union County for rural water system use. The permit was last reviewed in 2018.

Pursuant to SDCL 46-2A-2 the Chief Engineer of the Water Rights Program recommends that Permit No. 3574A-3 REMAIN in EFFECT for 1,000 acre-feet annually because 1) the reserved water may be developed, 2) there is need for the reserved water 3) the proposed use will be a beneficial use and 4) it is in the public interest. The recommendation of the Chief Engineer is not final or binding upon the Board and the Board is authorized to 1) allow the permit to remain in effect, 2) amend the permit by adding qualifications, 3) cancel the permit for no development or no planned future development, or 4) take no action after it reaches a conclusion based upon facts presented at the public hearing.

Any person who intends to participate in the hearing before the Board and present evidence or cross-examine witnesses according to SDCL 1-26, shall allege that the renewal of the future use permit, upon approval, will cause injury to the person that is unique from any injury suffered by the public in general. The injury must concern a matter either within the regulatory authority found in SDCL 46-2A-9 for approval or denial of the renewal, or other matter concerning the renewal within the regulatory authority of the board to act upon as defined by SDCL 46-2-9 and 46-2-11, or both. shall include a statement describing the unique injury upon renewal of the future use permit on the petitioner, the reasons for petitioner's opposition to renewal of the future use permit, and the name and mailing address of the petitioner or his legal counsel if legal counsel is obtained. The hearing to review Future Use Permit No. 3574A-3 will be conducted pursuant to the provisions of SDCL 46-1-14, 46-2-5, 46-2-9, 46-2-11, 46-5-38.1; Board Rules ARSD 74:02:01:25.01 thru 74:02:01:25.03; and contested case procedures contained in SDCL 1-26. This hearing is an adversary proceeding. The permit owner or any person, after filing a petition, has the right to be present or to be represented by a lawyer. These and other due process rights will be forfeited if they are not exercised. Decisions of the Board may be appealed to the Circuit Court and State Supreme Court as provided by law.

The time of the hearing will be automatically delayed for at least 20 days upon written request of the permit owner or any person who has filed a petition to oppose renewal of the Future Use Permit. The request for a delay must be filed with the Chief Engineer by March 31, 2025.

Any interested person may file a comment on the future use permit renewal with the Chief Engineer. The comment shall be filed on a form provided by the Chief Engineer and is available online at <https://danr.sd.gov/public> or by calling (605) 773-3352 or writing the Chief Engineer at the address provided above. Filing a comment does not make the commenter a party of record or a participant in any hearing that may be held. Any comment must be filed by March 31, 2025.

Notice is given to individuals with disabilities that the meeting is being held in a physically accessible location. Individuals requiring assistive technology or other services in order to participate in the meeting or materials in an alternate format should contact Brian Walsh, Nondiscrimination Coordinator, by calling (605) 773-5559 or by email at Brian.Walsh@state.sd.us as soon as possible but no later than two business days prior to the meeting in order to ensure accommodations are available.

Under SDCL 1-26-17(7) notices must state that "if the amount in controversy exceeds $2,500.00 or if a property right may be terminated, any party to the contested case may require the agency to use the Office of Hearing Examiners by giving notice of the request to the agency no later than ten days after service of a notice of hearing issued pursuant to SDCL 1-26-17." This is a Notice of Hearing, service is being provided by publication, and the applicable date to give notice to the Chief Engineer is March 31, 2025. However, since this particular matter is a future use permit renewal and not a monetary controversy in excess of $2,500.00 or termination of a property right the Chief Engineer disputes the applicability of this provision and maintains that the hearing must be conducted by the Board.

POLICIES CONCERNING USE OF
DUST CONTROL CHEMICALS
AND
CONTROL OF THE ROADWAY
AND RIGHT OF WAY
Township property owners are reminded that the application of dust control chemicals (including magnesium chloride solutions) to secondary gravel roads within Dayton Township is to be undertaken at the owner's sole expense and risk. The use of such chemicals will change
the characteristics of the driving surface and compaction. Potholes are more likely to occur. Owners are thus reminded that the Township reserves all right to grade and further maintain the roadway, including the overlay of gravel, even after dust
control measures have been used.
The Township's effort to keep a safe driving surface on all roads may counteract any dust control measures,
and the Township's patrol operator
is advised to use his best judgment
in performing routine maintenance, and the timing of such work. Dayton Township will not be responsible for renewing or replacing any dust
control measures applied by the owner
or at a property owner's direction.
Township will also endeavor to driving surface as laid out. Only

DAYTON TOWNSHIP, BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,
REGARDING MODIFICATION
OF TOWNSHIP ROAD DITCHES
FOR DRAINAGE PURPOSES OR DRIVEWAYS/APPROACHES
ENTERING TOWNSHIP ROADSWAYS (YEARS 2022 AND THEREAFTER)
RESOLVED, the Board of Supervisors, and having been to ratified by the Electors 3-1-2022,
and to continue each year thereafter,
adopts the following policy:
The Township does not own the township roads or ditches, but has authority to control the placement of driveways or similar installations within the 66' statutory highway, or surface modifications to the profile of ditches or roadways. As part of that authority, and in an effort to control obstructions, the Township has developed and maintained written policy for a number of years regarding the removal of trees within the right-of-way, placing the ultimate financial obligation on the adjoining landowner.
Some adjoining landowners have attempted to change the profile of ditches to enhance water drainage
from their property. While lacking the authority to either regulate or control drainage under state law, the Township does have a vested interest in the subject, particularly so that ditches do not retain water in amounts that threaten the integrity of the roads. Ditches are borrow-pits, and are not in and of themselves legal drains except to keep the roadway structures from blocking or unreasonably impeding the natural flow of water.
Under this policy, in effect since 2012,
adjoining landowners or their tenants
planning to modify any Dayton Township road ditch (along secondary roads) for improved drainage OR driveways/approaches (entering/exiting secondary roads) must seek written approval of the Supervisors, submitting to the Clerk, on the Township's form entitled "Permit to Conduct Certain Repair, Maintenance
or Other Work Within Township Road Right-of-way", with all required information in Schedules A, B and C. Approval must be sought by submitting the required information required under Approval will be given in due course upon the applicant
providing a written, engineered Ditch Alteration Plan to the Clerk, with the plan assuring that the front slope ditch grade, as modified, will not exceed 3-to-1. The grade must be maintained to the low point of the ditch – no sharp cuts or trenches. If grade cannot be maintained, the applicant must install a below grade conduit or culvert (size to be identified). Resulting drainage must not accumulate in the ditch, trapped by the roadway – all costs for upgrading, upsizing or installation of CMP culverts through consecutive audit in which a similar finding was noted.

Recommendation:
We recommend that the County
comply with SDCL 7-21-25.
Views of responsible officials:
To prevent funds from expending
funds in excess of appropriations there will be quarterly reviews of the accounts and supplemental hearings held when the department head states that the purchase is out of budget.
There has been additional training to department heads to prevent future
excess of appropriations.

exceptions being mailbox installations
placed in conformance with USPS regulations, and authorized driveways

in violation of this policy are subject to being removed by the Township, whether with or without prior notice to the owner of the adjoining lands. Each owner shall be and remain responsible also for collection and removal of trees, brush, down wood or branches, junk, rubble and other materials from

with other established policies of the

the road grade will be applicant's responsibility. In all cases of grade modification, the applicant must observe one-call procedures and also assume full responsibility for damage or injury to any buried utility or other facility, including those above ground. A reasonable backslope grade must also be maintained without cuts or trenches. Any drainage work that cannot be completed within the confines of the ditch, while observing the requirements of grade as stated, must be moved onto the adjoining property. In undertaking the work, no spoil, rock, or fill is to be left in the ditch or statutory highway. When present upon the Township right-of-way, applicant's contractor must take all reasonable precautions to protect the public. All work is to be done at applicant's sole risk and expense, and subject to Township's final approval.
Applicant (one or more landowners) and applicant's contractor must provide complete information required by the described permit. Landowner must also consent to reimbursing
the Township the cost of repair and materials to address settling or slumping where the roadbed or surface has been cut through or modified. This policy does not absolve applicant from obtaining also further permission to conduct drainage activities from downstream landowners, the County's drainage board or other board having drainage jurisdiction, or any federal agency. Dayton Township assumes no responsibility for any claims of adjoining landowners, or servient properties, arising out of the applicant's

drainage work. This policy also does not absolve applicant from any claim of Township that drainage work as installed may have allowed excessive drainage to damage the roadway or culverts installed under the roadway or approaches down grade from the work. Applicants should consult with a qualified engineer as to such matters,
as well as for designs and plans of all work.

RESOLVED FINALLY, the Clerk
is directed to publish notice of this resolution in the Township's legal

States Attorney Office Redesign Discussed

The Lincoln County Commission met Tuesday, March 11 in the Lincoln County Boardroom. With all members present, the commission heard agenda items including title transfer changes, redesigns for the State’s Attorney’s Office, and department head presentations.

Treasurer, Francene Hofer was present for an announcement to the board regarding the Treasurer’s office stopping the process of title transfers after 4:30 p.m. starting April 1. “With the new 605 drive system we have gotten from motor vehicle, and we are now needing to balance all of our stuff at the end of the day, so I am going to stop doing title transfers and new titles at 4:30. We will still be open until 5 to do renewals and tax process,” she said. With no motion needed, the commission thanked Hofer for her time.

Chief Civil Deputy State’s Attorney, Drew DeGroot requested board discussion and possible action authorizing the chair to sign JLG Proposal for redesign. “When we were going through some of the plans, I brought it to the chair’s attention, we were talking about office space for the State’s Attorney’s Office investigators. We are pretty much at capacity when we move out there. I have approached the chair about seeking to redesign to get more office space,” he said. DeGroot is hoping to use the shell space between the State’s Attorney’s Office and the IT Department next to it. Chairwoman Landeen asked for public comment, Scott Montgomery stood to voice his opinion. “From my understanding, that’s about 60 some odd thousand dollars just for engineering this is that correct?” Montgomery said. Chairwoman Landeen responded it was correct. “How much are we going to spend to do it? We were led to believe that you were going to put four courtrooms and then there was going to be space for two more courtrooms, now we’re going to build a State’s Attorney’s Office and then when it gets full of State’s Attorney’s, we’re going to boot them out of there. Where are they going? I’m a little confused here. It sounds like we’re getting a different story than what we had in the beginning, I mean, we got office space here, when they vacate this place, we’re going to have three courtrooms that they can move into. Why would we not utilize those? Sure it would be nice if they were all together, but there’s phones, there’s computers, there’s all kinds of options here. It’s $63,000 just for the engineering. I remember recently we bought a new desk, it was between $6,000 and $7,000 so how much money are we going to spend on this thing by the time we’re done?” Montgomery asked. With no board discussion, Otten made a motion to approve, seconded by Schmidt. Motion carried 3-2 with Arends and Putnam being the no votes.

Toby Brown, Planning Director, was present to give the Planning and Zoning Department presentation. “In the 1970’s the policy makers of the county, the Board of Commissioners, they adopted the County’s first comprehensive plan, after that, they adopted the first zoning regulation. They also adopted the first subdivision regulation, building code, and then throughout the years they’ve amended and added to those regulations, they’ve also adopted nuisance regulations. They also created the Planning and Zoning department for the county. The Planning and Zoning department is charged with administering and enforcing these laws that have been passed by the policy makers,” Brown said. In 2025 Brown and his team will work on determining staffing needs, department capital asset needs, and coordinate county-wide capital improvements plan. Commissioner Arends asked for Brown to clarify on whether the county is running out of available commercial and industrial land. “I think that the build ready sites that are zoned commercial or industrial were lacking those spots right now,” he responded. To remedy the problem, Brown hopes there will be future conversion from ag land to commercial industrial in the future. The board thanked Brown for his time.

Becky Vander Broek, Register of Deeds, was present for a department head presentation. “The Register of Deeds record and archive land records, so deeds, mortgages, plats, easements, many other types of records that go against property or possibly affect property and we also do South Dakota vital records which is birth, marriage, and death certificates, and we issue marriage licenses. We also help the public find the records they are looking for,” she said. For 2025 Vander Broek is hoping to digitize microfilm and books for better images, digitize index pages, and continue to update old documents with information to easily find documents.

Legislative Report

By Richard Vasgaard
District 16 Representative

District 16 Constituents: The 100th Legislative Session for the State of South Dakota has been completed.

Among some of the most debated topics was HB 1052, which would eliminate the use of eminent domain by CO2 pipeline carriers. It passed both Houses and was signed into law by Governor Rhoden. HB 1025 was the men’s prison construction bill which did not have enough votes in either House to be passed by two thirds majority vote. Governor Rhoden appointed a new work force to come up with a possible solution for our correctional facility. This group will meet four times and then present any recommendations at a special session of the Legislature in July. My thought on this is not a lot of time was given to resolve all the issues that were brought forth in discussion. This is a project we need to get done correctly the first time around as it only happens once in a person’s lifetime.

Unclaimed property got a lot of attention, which is monies that institutions have in a person’s name but not been able to locate the rightful owner to return the money. After a certain time period, it is turned over to the State. Any of these owners can claim the money at any time as long as they can prove it is theirs. Our state has been using these monies to cover short falls in the budget. This now has become a liability to our State. South Dakota voters will see an amendment to our constitution to establish a trust fund for unclaimed property at the next general election. This way, we as a state would have monies available to pay back what was used out of the unclaimed property by utilizing the interest income generated by the trust.

Another topic of much discussion was property taxes. I think there were a dozen or more bills at the beginning of session, but had only four at the end of session.

HB 1235, which would have lowered the cap on what local governments could increase their budgets yearly from 3% to 2.5 %. As a township director, this made no sense to me as inflation has been much higher over the last couple of years. The cost of everything we purchase has increased beyond the 3% increase. We have been going backwards for several years already. SB 191 was a bill that was similar to what California did a few years ago. It did not get support in the House. SB 216, which was referred to as the Governor’s bill, passed both Houses. It simply reduces the growth at which property taxes can increase. It will still allow for some property tax increases. The bill I appreciated the most was HB 1019 which would have reduced owner occupied property taxes by 35%. But, to fill the void left in the budget by this reduction, it would shift the burden to sales taxes by raising it from 4.2% to 5%. This meant that if you paid a property tax of $3500 on your home, this bill would have reduced your tax to $1225. Now, the increase in sales tax if you spent $5000 on taxable items that increase from 4.2% to 5% would cost you an additional $400. Some people wanted to call this a huge tax increase. I am not sure how that math works, but this was the only bill to give immediate relief to home owners. None of these tax bills were perfect. Our tax structure is very complex and when one thing changes, it affects a multitude of other things in the tax code. There will be an interim summer study on property tax relief. Hopefully there can be a solution that covers all the bases.

Other important issues that had lots of discussion were schools, libraries, and child care as well. Thank you to all who reached out to me with your concerns. I thank you for the opportunity to serve all the people in District 16 and the citizens of this great state of South Dakota.

It is my favorite golf time of the year and that is when it’s the TPC Sawgrass tourney in Jacksonville Florida or in Ponte Vedro which is just outside Jax but I just enjoy watching it because they can go from great scores to where is that ball going and that is what happened this year as I was watching over the weekend. When I was stationed in NAS Jacksonville in the squadron VP-5 I made it to the tournament a couple times and what a beautiful golf course. If you ever get a chance to go don’t pass it up because I am still glad, I got to go and when I did go, I followed Jack Nicklaus for 18 holes then went to follow Gary Player for most of his round. That was a lot of fun and just watching them at the #17 island green made the whole tournament. I watched till the end and they have extra playoff as the 2 leaders tied after 4 rounds and they will have a 3-hole playoff on Monday morning but since I write this Sunday night I won’t know till after I am done but I will be watching. Oh, and if you’re a pro golfer winning this wouldn’t be too bad since the winner wins 4.5 million dollars so that would be a good week’s salary plus all the other stuff he gets like exemptions for other major events. Yes after this weekend I am ready to start golfing out at Hiawatha and getting the summer started. See you on the course hopefully real soon.

It was girls basketball championship weekend and I watched a couple parts of a pair of games on Saturday night as I watched Brandon Valley to see how Amanda Lease was doing and they had the game at hand over O’Gorman in the 4th quarter but they came charging back and won a close game for their 2nd title leaving Amanda and the Lynx as runner ups again this year like last year. Good luck to Amanda as she heads east to play college basketball in New York State for the D3 team from Plattsburgh State University. Then I watched a very little bit of the SFC title game when they missed 2 free throws to win the game with 1.6 seconds left but got a tip in after the 2nd miss to win by one for the title over Mahpiya Luta. The boys state is next weekend with SFC as the top seed then Hamlin, RC Christian, West Central, Lennox, Clark/Willow Lake, Hill City and Groton Area. Good records for everyone in the tourney so hopefully it is close with good games.

Track season is on us now and the girls head to Vermillion for the Dan Lennon on Tuesday followed by a trip to Wayne State and then Mount Marty for indoor track then they head outside down in Elk Point Jefferson but the season is full so get to some track meets the weather hopefully will be nice and the boys and girls will have a great season. Check the school’s web site for a meet near you.

I have forgotten a lot of things as I get older and one way I know I am getting older is that my oldest son Zach just turned 30 years old I am even older but little things I will remember but it might be later and this one is later but I wanted to say thank you to Mike and Nikki Rhode for the ride out to state wrestling a couple weeks ago and for taking care of me till Zach and Chase came and joined me. Thanks Mike and Nikki I appreciated the ride out and around the first day it was fun and very nice. Next year will be different because I heard it will be at the Denny in Sioux Falls.
